House to get energy bill soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to give President Nixon a free hand in ordering gasoline rationing — a step he says is a last resort — is expected to reach the House floor next week.

The House Commerce Committee on Friday approved the emergency bill which Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said "affects every person in the land."

The legislation, requested by the President, also would slow clean air efforts to conserve fuel and would create a Federal Energy Administration.

Meanwhile, the Senate approved unanimously a bill calling on the government to spend $20 billion toward making the United States self-sufficient in energy by 1985.

The 82-0 vote sends the measure to the House, where an environmental subcommittee will meet Monday to consider it.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., sponsor of the bill, said he hopes for House passage by February.

The bill sets up an interagency group which Jackson said is designed to run the program until the government's energy efforts are reorganized on a long-term basis.

"The highest priority on a short-time basis should include an all-out effort to burn coal directly under boilers and get rid of pollutants," Jackson said.

In the House, Chairman Staggers said he hoped the emergency energy bill would reach the floor on Wednesday. The Senate already has passed legislation containing many of the provisions of the House bill.

However, committee members indicated that after expected House passage of the bill, a lengthy Senate-House conference would be required to reconcile the differing versions.

Before approving the bill, the Commerce Committee adopted an amendment that would temporarily exempt the petroleum industry from antitrust laws in order to work out common plans for allocating scarce fuels.

The bill would require car makers to meet the 1975 emission standards and suspend any further exhaust clean-up until 1977.

In other developments:

—Congressional and government attorneys said any state that attempted to defy an order from Washington to lower its speed limits would find itself on shaky legal ground. One Capitol Hill lawyer said, "There's just no question about the authority of the federal government to reduce speed limits to conserve fuel."

—Budget Director Roy L. Ash said the energy crisis will have a minimal impact on the administration's fiscal 1975 budget. Ash said it would reduce federal revenues by an estimated $2 billion to $3 billion.

—Reports circulated that Nixon planned to take a train to a weekend stay at Camp David, Md. Amtrak employees said they had been told to spruce up themselves and their equipment for the President.

Energy pinch saving lives?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state Highway Department official says there may be a silver lining in the energy-shortage cloud.

Fred Vierow, deputy director of the department, says reduced traffic and lower speeds on weekends could have a dramatic effect on the highway death toll.

"Last weekend was the first many gas stations were closed," Vierow noted. "Saturday night and Sunday, eight persons died on Ohio roads, compared to the 20 killed during the same period last year."

The eight fatalities also represent a drop from 13 recorded last year.

The eight fatalities also represent a drop from 13 recorded the week before and from the 26 or 27 recorded on some weekends in October and November.

Vierow said a dramatically lower death toll is possible because about 20 per cent of the weekend traffic deaths occur on Saturday and about 17 per cent on Sunday.

The deputy director also noted most Ohioans seem to be holding the line at the recommended 55 miles per hour during the fuel emergency. He said many motorists also appear to be cutting out non-essential driving.

He advised drivers seeking to stretch their fuel dollar to accelerate and brake gently; avoid long warm-ups or idling; turn off radio, heater and defroster before starting; use a cold-weather motor oil, and avoid wheel spinning.

The News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Europe today with promises to U.S. allies of "advance consultation" across the Atlantic in the future.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to President Nixon Friday a bill designed to remove a constitutional barrier to the nomination of Sen. William B. Saxbe as attorney general.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Eastern Airlines will lay off nearly 5,000 of its 34,000 employees by the end of the month, a union spokesman says.

Trans World Airlines, meanwhile, announced plans to furlough 350 low-seniority pilots next year as it curtails operations to meet a 15 per cent drop in fuel allocations.

Big rigs end highway blockades

Truckers appeased

WASHINGTON (AP) — A truck drivers' rebellion that resulted in blockaded highways has slowed to low gear after a federal agency promised concessions.

About 700 drivers threatened to block the Ohio Turnpike near Toledo early today, but they appeared to be the last holdouts.

Meanwhile, Teamsters union President Frank Fitzsimmons arranged to meet today with President Nixon to discuss the truckers' grievances about fuel limitations, price gouging on fuel by some retailers and lowered speed limits.

Fitzsimmons, who has not supported the truckers' sporadic blockades of major highways, met for more than an hour Friday night with William E. Simon, head of the new Federal Energy Administration.

A delegation of four truckers who have negotiated in Washington with various government agencies went back behind the wheel after receiving a key concession from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC agreed to revise its procedures to permit truck operators to pass along quickly to shippers increased costs caused by the fuel price hikes.

ICC Chairman George Stafford said the commission likely would shorten to 10 days the notification period truck operators must give their customers before changing rates. The period now ranges from 30 to 45 days.

The ICC announcement satisfied the four-man delegation, which said it represented an informal group of truck operators.

"We don't see any reason for a shutdown now, said J.W. 'River Rat' Edwards of Overland Park, Kan., spokesman for the group. "We're going back to our units tonight and start hauling."

A second group, sponsored by Overdrive Magazine, also has been meeting with federal officials and has threatened a shutdown by its membership next Thursday and Friday unless their demands are met.

Sporadic blockades by angry truckers snarled traffic on major highways this week, but the problems stopped Friday night.

After their meeting, both Simon and Fitzsimmons said chances were good for avoiding any nationwide demonstration by truckers.

"If I wasn't an optimist I wouldn't be doing this," Simon said. "I think I can avoid that," he added in reference to a truck tie-up.

Also attending the meeting were Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and trucking companies representatives and truck stop operators.

Fitzsimmons said he pressed the drivers' desire for nothing less than a 60 mile-per-hour speed limit, but Simon indicated the government felt it could not relax its 55 mile-per-hour guideline under present circumstances.

A spokesman for the drivers at Toledo, near the intersection of the Ohio Turnpike and Interstate 280, said the ICC promise was not good enough.

"We're getting sold down the river," said G. W. Bassett of Youngstown. Bassett said he wanted written confirmation of the ICC proposal.

Bassett said the truckers who went to Washington did not represent the truckers of America and he said three of his group were on their way to the capital.

He warned of a nationwide shutdown of everything but emergency vehicles if demands were not met.

The Ohio truck driver who met with federal officials called on fellow haulers to get their rigs rolling again after the conference.

"We are getting action that will solve some of our problems," said Fred Shaw of Shelby.

Shaw described the drivers' reception in Washington as "fantastic" and said officials of the Department of Transportation and the Internal Revenue Service were "definitely sympathetic" to the truckers' plight.

A number of drivers appeared to honor Shaw's call to get back on the road. An attendant at the Hebron truck stop near Columbus, which had been a center of driver activity a day earlier, reported the parking lot almost empty.

But authorities continued to keep a wary eye on large groups of drivers at major truck stops in Ohio and other states.

Up to 1,000 tractor trailers were reported clustered at stops in Lamar, Pa., as drivers waited for word of the outcome of the Washington talks.

Iowa's Gov. Robert Ray ordered Highway Patrolmen and National Guard military police to Davenport, after drivers were overheard calling on citizen-band radios for a blockade of Interstate 80.

Truckers blocked one lane of Interstate 90 near Rapid City S.D., for about three hours. But the highway patrol reported traffic continued to flow.

See big surge in Soviet outlays for weaponry

BRUSSELS (AP) — North Atlantic Treaty Organization experts are predicting a surge in Soviet spending on new weapons.

They said expected Soviet weaponry spending could upgrade Moscow's arsenal significantly between 1974 and 1976.

The report on Soviet military spending was issued as 13 NATO defense ministers closed their semi-annual two-day meeting Friday. France did not participate and Iceland has no defense minister.

The NATO analysts see a long-term upward trend in Soviet spending, averaging out to about 3 per cent a year. Within that trend, they expect the Soviets to follow a spending pattern that first puts heavy emphasis on research and development, and then on installing new weapons systems.

Right now, according to the experts, Soviet research and development and missile testing is at an all-time high. They say the next stage will be heavy spending on weapons procurement between 1974 and 1976.

During that period Moscow is expected to install new intercontinental ballistic missiles and otherwise build up its forces to the limits set at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

For the past three years, the experts say, Soviet military spending has remained about even at 25 to 30 billion rubles a year — $22 billion to $27 billion at the official Soviet exchange rate but far more on the unofficial market. With all factors considered, the Soviet defense outlay seems about the same as that of the United States, the experts say.

"It seems," says the NATO report, "that the Soviet Union does not appear to see any contradiction between a continued high level of defense spending and improvement in East-West relations."

A joint statement by the defense ministers warned that "the Soviet Union now possesses a capability for the world-wide use of military power well in excess of that needed to defend their own territory."

But defense spending in the West is also showing no signs of slowing down. The NATO ministers did their best to show that they were building their own forces as fast as they could.

Ten of them announced that their goal for 1973 — a defense spending increase of $1.5 billion — had been far overshoot and that they actually spent $2.9 billion more. For 1974 they set a $2 billion goal.

Metzenbaum faces back tax claims

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Democratic senatorial hopeful Howard Metzenbaum, reacting to a news report he owes $118,358 in back income taxes, said he has filed suit to contest the Internal Revenue Service decision.

"My tax attorneys have filed a lawsuit in the U.S. Tax Court in Washington contesting the claim," said the unsuccessful Democrat candidate for U.S. Senate from Ohio in 1970.

"At this point we owe the government no money, but if the court decides any money is due, it will be paid promptly."

Metzenbaum reacted to a report in The Cincinnati Enquirer Saturday morning that the IRS had filed a claim for $118,358 in back taxes against him last April.

The IRS challenged the tax records of Metzenbaum and his wife for the years 1967 and 1968 after disallowing a tax loss involving property rent losses in Louisiana.

"We are trying to work out something with the IRS regional counsel here now on the schedule for proceeding with our fight," said Metzenbaum's Cleveland attorney Stephen Kadish.

Metzenbaum said he hopes to be named by Ohio Gov. John Gilligan to the seat held by U.S. Sen. William Saxbe. R-Ohio. Congress passed legislation Friday clearing way for Saxbe to be appointed U.S. attorney general.

The tax dispute involves an ethane extraction plant which Metzenbaum said he rented to the Allied Chemical Corp. for 15 years.

The IRS ruled the losses claimed by Metzenbaum were not "bona fide" for federal income tax purposes.

The ruling increased Metzenbaum's taxable income $22,372 in 1967 and $182,541 in 1968, according to IRS records.

Metzenbaum said his suit was filed in July, 1973.

Other deficiencies resulted from Metzenbaum's failure to list $1,299 in 1967 dividends from ITT Consumer Service, according to the IRS.

Tax officials also said the Metzenbaums claimed $10,647 more than they should in charitable deductions in 1968 and $8,816 in 1967.

Ford defends President; sees eventual exoneration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford rejects the idea that President Nixon's Watergate troubles have made him a political liability to fellow Republicans.

Ford firmly defended the President at a news conference Friday less than 24 hours after he took his oath as the nation's 40th vice president.

Many Republican lawmakers have privately expressed fears Nixon's low rating in public opinion polls may rub off on them. However, Ford said "If they had the opportunity to have the President appear, almost without exception they would be glad to have him."

Earlier, talking with newsmen during a picture-taking session outside the Senate chamber, Ford said "I don't think the President is a political liability to any candidate."

In his first full day as vice president, Ford spent barely over an hour presiding over the Senate.

He met for 45 minutes at the White House with President Nixon, where he was given a description of some vice presidential duties. He also received word that the President would present "some new programs" to Congress and reiteration that Nixon won't resign.

Ford said he asked the President about that so he would know what to say when he appears Sunday on a television program.

"The President has no intention whatsoever of resigning," Ford reported. "I have heard it before and it was reiterated to me this morning."

"I personally do not think he should resign," the vice president added, noting also that he sees "no evidence whatsoever" to justify a House vote in favor of impeaching Nixon.

He said he expects Nixon to release this month details of his finances and of his handling of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and milk fund cases.

"When all of the facts are out," the vice president said, "he did assure me he will be completely exonerated. There will be no fair charges of involvement."

Agriculture seen as major energy source

WOOSTER — Agriculture could well become a major source of energy in the future, according to a leading Ohio agricultural leader.

Plants are the major converters of solar energy into usable and storable energy, and they represent a renewable source of energy, explained Roy M. Kottman, dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics and director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. His remarks were contained in an address scheduled for delivery at the Extension State Advisory Committee meeting at OARDC here Dec. 7.

"A BUSHEL of corn and a bushel of wheat can each produce nearly three gallons of alcohol which can be used as fuel," Kottman said. "Some of our agricultural scientists at Ohio State are exploring the possibility of chemically treating and then physically distilling soybean oil to produce a fuel substitute for gasoline, liquefied natural gas and other forms of energy-producing fuels."

Kottman noted that the departments of Agricultural Engineering and Agronomy at OARDC are working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on a study of the use of organic matter as a raw material source for producing fuel. He said the first concern in agriculture must be for meeting domestic as well as foreign demand for food, while one of the great challenges of the future will be to produce both food and industrial energy from farm and forest crops.

Energy can be obtained from many of the solid wastes which are produced in our nation, said Kottman. It has been estimated that the U.S. produces 940 million tons of solid wastes each year — wastes which have an energy value equal to 1.2 billion barrels of oil, or 7½ per cent of the total oil now used.

One of our future challenges in agricultural research is to develop and implement effective, economical methods for using waste products from agriculture and forestry, the dean said. Such products include cereal straw, grain hulls, corn stalks, soybean straw, sawdust, wood pulp and animal wastes, all of which can be used for methane production. Livestock and poultry manure produced in the U.S. embodies a potential volume of methane gas equal to five per cent of our total natural gas production.

"Agriculture and forestry can contribute significantly to our nation's energy conservation effort," Kottman stated. "We can, for example, return to the use of natural fibers in place of the energy-demanding synthetic fibers that now account for 70 per cent of our U.S. fiber market. The fossil fuel energy input into sheep production is very small. Production of a pound of cotton requires only about 40 per cent as much energy as the production of a pound of synthetic fibers.

"Furthermore, the non-cellulosic synthetic fibers are derived from petroleum and natural gas, so we might well rely more heavily on the cellulosic synthetic fibers that are derived from a renewable natural resource such as the cellulose produced by our forests.

Farmer's Tax Guide now available here

BY JOHN P. GRUBER
COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT,
AGRICULTURE

The 1974 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide are available at the County Extension Office. The tax guide is prepared to help farmers with their 1973 tax return. Examples throughout the booklet show how the tax laws apply to actual farming situations.

The publication also lists new tax developments, although changes are few in Federal tax reporting for this year. I would term the Farmer's Tax Guide as a must reading for any farmer before starting income tax preparation. It will also be a good tool for use in year end tax management.

While we're on the subject of tax management, I want to report an excellent turnout for the Farm Tax Workshop held Thursday afternoon at the Extension Meeting Room. Fifty farmers and farm wives were on hand for the session which was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service.

THE THIRD session of the sheep production, management, and marketing workshop will be held Tuesday night in the Farm Bureau Auditorium. Jim Polson, Area Extension Agent Farm Management and Ralph Grimshaw, Extension Sheep Specialist will be discussing the economics of various forage storage and handling systems for Ohio

Sheepmen and production costs and returns for various levels of lambs marketed per ewe.

DIRECTORS of the Fayette County Cattlefeeders will be meeting Wednesday, December 12 at 8 p.m. in the Extension Meeting Room. Directors will be planning for the annual Cattlefeeders banquet scheduled for January 14 and other winter activities of the association. Our directors are urged to be present for the meeting.

SOYBEAN producers throughout Ohio will have an opportunity to vote for or against the Ohio Soybean Marketing Referendum January 8, 9, and 10. It is estimated that there are 55,000 soybean producers in Ohio who will have an opportunity to cast their ballot at County Extension Offices.

The purpose of the soybean marketing program is to aid the growth and development of the soybean industry in Ohio through market development, promotion, and research not otherwise provided for.

If approved by the soybean producers, a ½ cent per bushel "Check-off" or levy will be collected from each bushel of soybeans sold in Ohio. Sixty percent of the funds will be used for foreign market development and promotion. The other forty percent will be used for research toward developing improved varieties and cultural practices which would result in efficient soybean production.

Fayette County soybean producers are urged to keep the dates in mind and to vote during the referendum.

Farmers eye hike in cash rental rates

With good farming prospects for 1974, many landowners who did not share in the higher farm profits of this year because they rented on a cash basis, are considering raising rents, points out a Purdue University agricultural economist. On the other hand, prospective cash tenants are bidding up rental rates in order to get more land for next year.

Dr. J.H. Atkinson says that a flexible or sliding scale cash rent may be desirable in some cases — absentee landlords, widows without business experience, persons who prefer a more certain income, tenants with good financing and management ability.

Under this arrangement, Atkinson explains, the amount of cash rent would vary with the price of grain, thus allowing the landlord to share in the profits from higher prices and yet not increasing the renter's risk beyond acceptable limits.

A simple flexible rental agreement is one in which the amount of rent is equal to a specified quantity of grain times the price at a predetermined place and date. Either minimum or maximum rents can be set and to protect the tenant a provision included to prohibit any increase if average yields for the farm fell below a predetermined level.

However, when considering a flexible cash lease don't try to make it do what a 50-50 share lease can do better, Atkinson cautions.

Opinion And Comment

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Israeli elections key to peace?

WASHINGTON — Elections, as we learned a year ago, may decide a lot of things that may mean nothing at all. An election is coming up on the last day of this year that can be momentous for American foreign policy and for the savage crunch of the oil shortage.

Israel will go to the polls for a vote that was postponed when the war broke out. They will determine whether the familiar leadership with Premier Golda Meir will continue or whether disillusion over the outcome of the war and anger at the terms of the cease-fire will bring in a new, tough faction.

Predictions of the outcome are hard to come by whether in Tel Aviv or Washington. But if in the wave of disillusion and distrust the hard-liners triumph, the chances for a negotiated peace are hardly hopeful.

Strange phenomena are reported by Israelis taking stock in the sad aftermath of the war. Mrs. Meir and Moshe Dayan have been booed in public, something that never happened before. They are blamed for the failure to move swiftly enough to meet the Arab attack, as well as for failing to heed intelligence reports of a large Egyptian military buildup.

ISRAEL as a wounded nation is the somber verdict of young Israelis who see the idealism and the buoyant hope of recent years draining away. The official government figure of dead in the war was 1,844. When all the missing in action are accounted for, the total may be as high as 2,400. For the United States, with its population of 220 million, that would be equivalent to 200,000 dead in 17 days of war.

The cost of the war is another fearful weight on the future of the Jewish state. While this cannot compare with the loss of the best and the bravest, a total of $6 billion is a staggering figure for a nation that has been spending up to 25 per cent of its total gross national product on defense.

Dayan is coming to America with two objectives. One is to make a new and dramatic plea to the United Jewish Appeal for funds to help make up the deficit. The other goal is to sound out Secretary of State Henry Kissinger on the American posture toward negotiation. That posture will depend in large part on the outcome of the election on Dec. 31.

DESPITE the constant alarms and excursions along the uncertain cease-fire line, Dr. Kissinger remains optimistic that it will hold. Therefore, Egypt, Israel and perhaps also Syria will sit down at the formal opening of a conference in Geneva on or about Dec. 18.

This will be only the ceremonial start of what Dr. Kissinger hopes will be a long and often bleak negotiation looking to a lasting peace in the Middle East. The Israelis have said that they cannot discuss anything substantive until after the election.

If the hard-liners win and a comparative moderate like Mrs. Meir is forced out, the American position as a kind of wet nurse to the negotiation will be difficult. Without Israeli concessions or at the start a willingness to consider restoration of some of the territory conquered in the 1967 war, the Arab position will harden and the oil crunch will be tougher.

BUT HOW MUCH pressure can Dr. Kissinger and President Nixon put on an intractable government in Jerusalem? The $2.2 billion military assistance bill for Israel moving toward passage is an answer of sorts.

The measure drafted by the Administration gives the President what is probably unprecedented authority. He may hand over the weapons — planes to replace the more than 700 lost by Israel in the war — as a gift or on long- or short-term credits as he decides. Or on his own decision he may withhold all military assistance.

In Rep. Otta Passman's subcommittee the $2.2 billion was cut by $400 million. But the full amount was restored in the Appropriations Committee and it is expected to go through the House without difficulty. Under steadily mounting pressures the Senate may act before the end of the session.

The choices, looked at in the grimest fashion, are between a negotiated peace and another war. Even a war of attrition would be far more destructive for a nation of 3 million than for the Arabs. The logic, therefore, is for peace.

Yet that election may say something quite different about the frustration of those who believe they were cheated of victory on Oct. 22.

You have an ardent nature, but are not particularly demonstrative; love the outdoors, sports and animals.

Wallace deducts for papers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace received a personal income tax deduction by donating his 1968 presidential campaign papers to the state, the Montgomery Advertiser reports.

The newspaper said in today's editions that Wallace made his deduction of about $30,000 under the same law which President Nixon used in claiming deductions for some of his papers.

The director of state archives, Milo Howard, confirmed that the Alabama Department of Archives and History had the Wallace papers but declined to say what value was put on them.

"That's a personal matter between the governor and the archives," Howard said. The director also refused to show the papers.

"It was a restricted gift and can be seen only with permission from Governor Wallace or the executor of his estate for the next 25 years," Howard said.

The Advertiser said another restriction gives Wallace or his executor the right to remove the papers from the archives if another library is set aside for the Wallace family.

The story said about 300,000 pages were donated, with a deduction of 10 cents per page.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

How many men cheat on wives? Who knows?

DEAR ABBY: I read an article which stated: "Ninety seven per cent of all married men cheat on their wives and only six per cent of all married women cheat on their husbands."

I told my husband this, and he said he thought those statistics were way off, that it should have been higher for women, and lower for men.

What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: There is probably no other subject about which so many people lie; so where sex is concerned, I wouldn't accept any figure as gospel.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25, and Ken is 40. We've been happily married for six years and have a daughter 5, and I'm expecting again.

My problem: Ken has three sons, 14, 12, and 9, who have been living with his ex-wife, and these boys are hard to handle. I know because we've had them for vacations.

His ex-wife has had three husbands in the last five years, and now she's living with a minor! Ken says it would be easy for us to get custody of his kids now, but Abby, I don't want them. They like me, and I make them mind, but it's so difficult! The older one has run away twice, and the 12-year-old is on probation for shoplifting.

I don't know what I'll do if I have to raise these boys, Abby. I love my husband and don't want to lose him, but I don't think I can handle those wild kids.

CRACKING UP

DEAR CRACKING: The boys desperately need love and acceptance. Don't reject them. Your Family Service Child Guidance department can counsel you and them, too. If they make their home with you give these problem boys a chance to straighten out. Love creates miracles.

DEAR ABBY: Can a widow celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary if her husband has been dead for 24 years?

My mother wants to place flowers on the church altar and buy a page in the church bulletin to celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary, or in some way to memorialize the date she and my father would be celebrating if he were alive.

Abby, I don't want people to laugh at her, but I have never heard of anything like this. Please help me to guide her. I agree, the day should be remembered in some way, but how should she word the announcement without appearing cuckoo?

HER SON

DEAR SON: Your mother could place flowers on the altar in memory of her beloved husband on the day that would have been their 50th wedding anniversary. And she could place such an announcement "in loving memory of my dear departed husband" in the church bulletin.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that if a man introduces a woman in public as his wife, they are legally married.

If this is true, why is it necessary to obtain a marriage license?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: There is a small germ of truth (and then only under special circumstances) in the above statement. Talk to a lawyer in your state about marriage common-law and otherwise.

BRIDGE HONOR—Rod Wright, 505 N. North St., was honored Friday night by the Miami Valley Bridge Association as the outstanding first-year bridge player in the Dayton area. Wright, who until recently had been living in Fairborn, began playing bridge last fall. The trophy was presented to him by the association president Hank Grismer.

Bridge trophy is presented

A young Washington C.H. bridge enthusiast took a huge stride Friday toward gaining the notoriety among South-Central Ohio bridge players enjoyed by his parents for many years.

Rod Wright, 23, of 505 N. North St., son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wright, was honored by the Miami Valley Bridge Association as the outstanding first-year bridge player in the Dayton area, and was presented a trophy by MUBA President Hank Grismer. Currently in the U.S. Air Force, Wright had been living in Fairborn until moving to his parents home recently.

Stationed in California for over a year, he was transferred to Wright-Patterson Field last fall and became interested in the game which had fascinated his parents.

Grasping the game very quickly,

Wright began playing tournament bridge almost immediately and has an outstanding record of high finishes over the past year, including two consecutive first places in team-of-four competition. He was partnered with Mrs. Bruce Jackson and his parents in those events.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright, who began playing bridge in Springfield, have been highly regarded in the Dayton and Columbus areas for longer than they care to remember.

The younger Wright's bridge career is likely to be hampered slightly in the near future because he will be leaving for Okinawa in January. His assignment calls for him to be there for about a year, and tournament bridge in the area is somewhat limited.

Country Club setting for dance

One hundred and fifty guests were present for the second annual dance held by the staff of ConChemco Incorporated for employees and other guests at the Washington Country Club Friday evening.

Guests danced to the music of Luther Bolen and his orchestra until 1 a.m. A cocktail hour preceded the dance. Hors d'oeuvres were available during the evening from a buffet table.

Committee members were Mr. and Mrs. Don Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stoughton, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Calendine, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gentry and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hoxsie.

Country Club festive for bridge party

The tables were festive Thursday for the weekly bridge luncheon at the Washington Country Club. Christmas decorations adorned the lounge at the Club and a holiday motif prevailed.

Mrs. Walter Fultz and Mrs. Ervin Miller were guests of Mrs. Ronald Cornwell for the day.

Winners in bridge were Mrs. Wayne Shobe, first; Miss Elizabeth McDonald, second; and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, third.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Hanawalt, Mrs. Robert Heiny and Mrs. Robert Harris.

New bride feted at pretty shower

Mrs. Jerald Wilt (nee Jeanne Doller), a recent bride, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Charles Andrews. She was assisted by Miss Jeanie Andrews and Mrs. Ron Campbell.

Game winners were Miss Doller, Mrs. La Verne Morgan and Mrs. Jack Blair.

Angel food cake, punch and coffee were served to Mrs. Wilt, guest of honor, and August Doller, Mrs. Carl Wilt I, Mrs. Carl Wilt II, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Loren Michael, Mrs. Roy Baughn, Mrs. Dale Thornton, Mrs. Don Thornton, Mrs. Charles Burke, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Orris Mallow, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Paul Holloway, Mrs. Doug Dailey, Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, and Misses Deane and Mary Jo Thornton, Lori Holloway and Judy Michael.

Members and guests were received at the door upon arrival by one of the committee couples. A breakfast followed the dance.

Miss Landrum completes wedding plans

Miss Patty Landrum, bride-elect of David Souther, has completed plans for an open-church wedding in Grace United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 15. The Rev. Allen L. Puffenberger will perform the ceremony.

Miss Landrum has asked Mary Eckle to be matron of honor and Pam Landrum for maid of honor.

Bill Leasure will serve as best man. Seating the wedding guests will be Terry Eckle and Randy Knox, both of Washington C.H.

Mrs. Rita Pettit of Washington C.H. will preside at the guest book. A reception will follow in the church.

Past Matrons

The annual Christmas party of the Past Matrons of Jefferson Chapter, No. 300, was held in the home of Mrs. Catharine Baird, assisted by a committee of Mrs. Rowena Cummins, Mrs. Margaret Morrow, Mrs. Martha Reedy, Miss Helen Fults, Mrs. Kay Cline and Mrs. Florence Seibert.

Mrs. Baird's home was attractively decorated with Christmas arrangements and a lighted Christmas tree.

A carry-in supper and turkey furnished by the committee, was the feature of the evening. Following the meal, Robert Woodmansee played several selections on the banjo. A gift exchange followed, and a brief business meeting was held.

Twenty four Past Matrons, 12 husbands and three children enjoyed the festive occasion.

Appalachia has Santa special

By ELIZABETH MORIARTY
Johnson City Press-Chronicle
KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — In some places, you couldn't even see the houses the children came from.

But there they were, in groups of two or three, standing beside the single track, waiting for the Santa Claus special.

The sun held its way into the backwoods hollows of Appalachia, displacing the morning mist, and the children stood and waited for a brief glimpse of old No. 1, its white flags snapping, clouds of steam, a well-worked tender, and finally the car edged in holly carrying Santa and a load of pre-Christmas surprises.

"I'll bet that's about it for some of those kids as far as Christmas is concerned," said one of the men tossing candy and books and toys off the back of the train. A look at the hard, lined faces of the adults along the track and the sometimes crazily leaning shanties visible from the train were evidence he might be right.

It was the 31st annual Santa Claus

special, a project of Clinchfield Railroad and the Kingsport Chamber of Commerce.

Over 1½ tons of candy alone were donated by Kingsport businessmen for this year's 93-mile journey between Elkhorn City, Ky., and Kingsport last week. The route winds through southwestern Virginia and coal mining country.

And there were other gifts too—fish tanks and ant mazes by the score, books, toys, stuffed animals, pads of paper, balloons, and even panty hose and stockings for the women along the way.

Old No. 1 is Clinchfield's 90-year-old steam engine, "Rosebud." It provided the whistle, the steam—but most of the power came from two diesel locomotives.

"We've never run out of candy yet," said one of the veterans of the journey. "And we won't this year."

The mood on the train was jovial, but they got the job done. Two men stationed themselves on either side of the back platform, watching for children.

"There's a small group on the right," one called out. "How small?" "About half a dozen. Two car lengths away."

Tom Moore, Clinchfield general manager, reached his gloved hands into the mass of green and red taffy candy. Santa reached for a handful of balloons and books.

"Now call the watchman." And, as if by magic, the candy and toys landed on the tracks beside the children.

All day that was the sight, candy bouncing, leaves from the paper pads fluttering, and the children running. Many came armed with paper bags to pick up the booty.

In the larger towns along the route, the train made brief stops. The back of the train was engulfed by people. Reaching hands, upturned faces, paper bags held open, little children on their fathers' shoulders.

"I don't know that I've ever seen so many people waiting for the train," said A.B. Coleman, of Kingsport Chamber of Commerce. Coleman has made the journey 30 of the 31 years.

Navy-Hollywood honeymoon ends

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The honeymoon is over between Hollywood and the Pentagon.

For decades producers were assured of a cast of thousands whenever they wanted to make movies about the armed services. No more. The new attitude is demonstrated in the Pentagon's turn-down of requests for cooperation on two new films.

The movies are "Cinderella Liberty" and "The Last Detail," and both are being released here this month in time to qualify for the 1973 Academy race. Both are based on novels by Darryl Ponicsan—he also wrote the screenplay for "Cinderella Liberty"—and both have been well received in previews.

The Pentagon decided that neither qualified for Navy cooperation in filming.

Movie studios have long made use of troops and materiel on the argument that their films contributed to the glory of the armed forces. The military began to take a closer look at movie cooperation after "Tora! Tora! Tora!"

The 20th Century-Fox film made great use of military personnel and property to recreate the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The government was compensated, but the arrangement was a bargain for the film company: without U.S. assistance, production cost would have been far greater than the $25 million spent.

The Pentagon was sharply criticized in Congress and elsewhere by those who asked: "Why cooperate on a film about America's greatest defeat?"

Since then, the brass has scrutinized every request for help in filming.

Mark Rydell, director of "Cinderella Liberty," said, "We reached out for the Navy's help. We needed a destroyer, a Navy base, a Navy hospital and the services of hundreds of sailors."

"We were perfectly willing to pay the sailors at the going rate and not interfere with any Navy operations."

"The script, we thought, was a very moral tale about a boswain mate, first class who is a naive, solid American man. He has been in the Navy 15 to 20 years and he says, 'The Navy is my life; I love it.' That's the best possible image for the Navy."

At first the Pentagon seemed to agree. Officials said they liked the script and asked Rydell to come to Washington to discuss a few changes. They were mostly in language. The script had an executive officer chastising the hero for marrying a girl who was a "semi-pro whore." The speech was okay—if it was delivered by a non-commissioned officer.

Rydell made the changes, the script was approved, and the director toured Navy bases on both coasts to find a location. He chose Seattle.

Then, four weeks before shooting was to begin, the Pentagon rescinded its cooperation, Rydell said. He said he learned that a high-ranking admiral disapproved of the script. No amount of argument could change the decision.

Gerald Ayres, producer of "The Last Detail," never got far with the Pentagon. He submitted the script, which concerns three roistering sailors on a spree before one has to report to a Navy prison. The reply: "We don't feel it's flattering to the Navy."

The predicted high pressure system finally moved into the lower Great Lakes region during the night, but didn't do much to break up cloudiness. As a result, temperatures fell slowly across the state.

The high pressure was expected to hold on, bringing considerable sunshine today in the state. A new weather system entering the plains states should bring Ohio slightly milder temperatures.

Highs were to reach the 40s today and Sunday with a chance of showers late Sunday.

There will be a chance of showers Monday changing to flurries Tuesday and back to rain or snow Wednesday. Highs generally will be in the 40s with lows in the 20s or 30s.

Cold air nears U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and snow flurries persisted in the northern Rockies today as a new cold air system hovered over the border ready to push into the mid-continent.

Cold weather lingered from the middle and northern Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast with readings before dawn in the 20s. Temperatures in the 30s were common from the Mississippi to the Middle Atlantic coast.

Showers and a few thunderstorms flecked the southern Atlantic Coast states, but rainfall was light, generally less than half an inch.

Skies were fair to partly cloudy elsewhere across the nation. Fog settled over the San Francisco area.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 12 at Houlton, Maine, to 70 at Key West, Fla.

Standard Oil buys property

The Standard Oil Co. figured in two real estate transactions here Friday.

Standard purchased the Frank Baker property on the CCC Highway-W, near the U.S. 35 bypass interchange, as the site for a new service station. The two-acre tract and building have been used by the Baker Construction Co. for storage.

At the same time the oil company completed transfer of its former station at Court and Hinde Streets to J.O. and Connie Garringer who will move the Connie Paint and Wallpaper Store to that location.

Both transactions were handled by Mark and Mustine Real Estate.

MT pops 'Cane; Lions beat Astros

Panthers pump mark to untarnished 4-0

BY DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace is off and running with a 4-0 all games mark thus far this season as the Panthers added another win to their list. This time the victim was Wilmington as the Hurricanes dropped a running battle to Miami Trace 67-43 in Richardson Memorial Gym.

From the tip-off to the final buzzer Miami Trace showed poise, stamina, balance and sheer desire as the Panthers ripped through Wilmington's presses, man to man and zone defenses, referee's whistles and even a few bleachers.

Led by towering center Dave Persinger, hustling Jeff King and steady Randy Reiber, the Panthers trailed but only once and that was with the score standing 1-0.

Persinger ripped the nets for 24 points and pulled down 14 missed shots. Constantly Persinger kept the ball alive on the board for another try by the Panther's offensive core.

Reiber followed next in pointage with 16 counters and King drilled in 13. When the ball wasn't being tipped back up towards the basket, Reiber, King or Persinger was shooting from 10 feet or better to totally confuse the Wilmington Hurricanes.

A clawing scrappy defense was put on Wilmington and Miami Trace caused the Hurricanes to turn the ball over 22 times. The majority of the miscues for the Hurricanes came in the second quarter when the Panthers opened the game up by outscoring the Clinton Countians 23-8.

Wilmington used zone defenses, man to man defenses, full-court presses, half-court presses and almost everything else imaginable but still couldn't stop the balanced team work of the Panthers.

Miami Trace dominated the boards throughout the whole contest with the exception of the fourth quarter when coach Dale Creamer had substituted for his starters.

The fast-breaking Panthers tried 18 more shots from the field and made 13 more of the attempts than did Wilmington. From the foul-line Wilmington held the edge by collecting seven to Miami Traces five.

The first quarter was highlighted by excellent fast breaking by Miami Trace and good solid defense by Wilmington. Trace opened with a 9-3 lead before Wilmington could get on track. At the end of the quarter guard Steve Mowery swished a 30 footer at the buzzer to give the Panthers a 19-15 lead and an indication of things to come.

Second quarter action brought Miami Trace's fast break back to work plus a very snagging defense. Three minutes elapsed at the one period in the second quarter where Wilmington failed to score. Both teams pressed but Miami Trace held the upper hand in shooting and defending to take a commanding 42-23 lead into the lockerroom.

Two minutes tick off the clock before the scoring got underway in the third quarter but when it did the Panthers were still rolling.

Nineteen points were scored by the

MT reserves win thriller

The Miami Trace reserves pulled out a thrilling win Friday night over Wilmington 48-45 in the last minute of the game.

Substitute Gary English only scored three points in the whole game but all three were very important four shots. English stepped to the charity line with less than one minute remaining in the game and promptly sank the go ahead shot for the Panther jayvees.

In a game that was nip and tuck all four quarters English emerged the hero with desperation foul shots.

Miami Trace received Alan Connors best game thus far this season plus good support from Rod Garringer and Greg Cobb. Connors collected 15 points plus showed tremendous hustle and tenacious defensive tactics. Cobb poured in nine points and collected a pocket full of rebounds. Garringer pelted the nets for 10 points and also showed great hustle in the Panthers third straight victory.

Regular Miami Trace starter Dan Gifford didn't play in the reserves game due to a leg injury that may hold the gifted freshman on the bench six weeks. English and Kirk Neff filled in for Gifford most adequately.

Wilmington was led by Marvin Jameson with 15 points and by Steve Hufford with eight tallies.

The Hurricanes collected two more baskets than Miami Trace but the Panthers hit on seven more charity tosses than Wilmington.

Playoff berth looms in Cincinnati today

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati and Cleveland renew their red-hot National Football League rivalry Sunday and there will be more at stake than usual.

Both the Bengals and the Browns entertain playoff hopes and there are just two more games left in the regular season to do something about it. The two are tied with Pittsburgh for first place in the American Conference Central Division and a loss could just about eliminate the loser.

"We just have to play hardnosed football and make no mistakes," says Cincinnati fullback Charles "Boobie" Clark.

"We're going down there to win. We beat them once already this season," counters Cleveland tight end Milt Morin.

Pittsburgh, coming off three straight losses, will entertain Houston. In other Sunday games, Washington is at Dallas, Chicago visits Detroit, New England plays at Buffalo, the New York Jets travel to Philadelphia, Atlanta hosts St. Louis, Baltimore welcomes Miami, San Francisco is at New Orleans and Denver visits San Diego.

Los Angeles entertains the New York Giants Monday night.

Kansas City played at Oakland and Minnesota was at Green Bay today.

Cleveland has beaten Cincinnati in six out of seven regular season meetings, including a 17-10 triumph earlier this year in Cleveland.

"It's a great rivalry and there's no reason to believe this game won't be just like the rest of them," says Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown. "All of the games except one have gone right down to the wire and the majority have been decided by no more than three or four points."

"Both teams will go with the best players we can put on the field to win," adds Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich.

Both clubs are coming off big games. The Bengals turned in their best performance of the year last week, handing the Minnesota Vikings a 27-0 loss. It was the Vikes' first shutout in 162 games.

The Browns rallied from a 206 deficit

Pitching deals top major league trades

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitching, the dominating factor in baseball, was also the dominating factor at the winter baseball meetings.

Often called 75 per cent of the game, pitching took more than 50 per cent of the play in a wild, record-setting week of 24 deals between major league teams.

The trend started last Monday on opening day and continued right through the last out on Friday, when seven deals were completed—including a six-player blockbuster between the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox.

The Cardinals received pitchers John Curtis, Lynn McGlothen and Mike Garman in exchange for pitchers Reggie Cleveland and Diego Segui and infielder Terry Hughes.

By the time the last trade was made, a total of 55 players had been dealt in five days—29 of them pitchers.

These deals also were made Friday as the club owners and general managers went down swinging.

—The New York Yankees acquired pitcher Ken Wright and outfielder Lou Pinella from the Kansas City Royals for relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel.

—The Pittsburgh Pirates sent pitcher Bob Johnson to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder Bill Flowers.—The Philadelphia Phillies purchased relief pitcher Eddie Watt from the Baltimore Orioles.

—The Phillies sold infielder Cesar Tovar to the Texas Rangers.

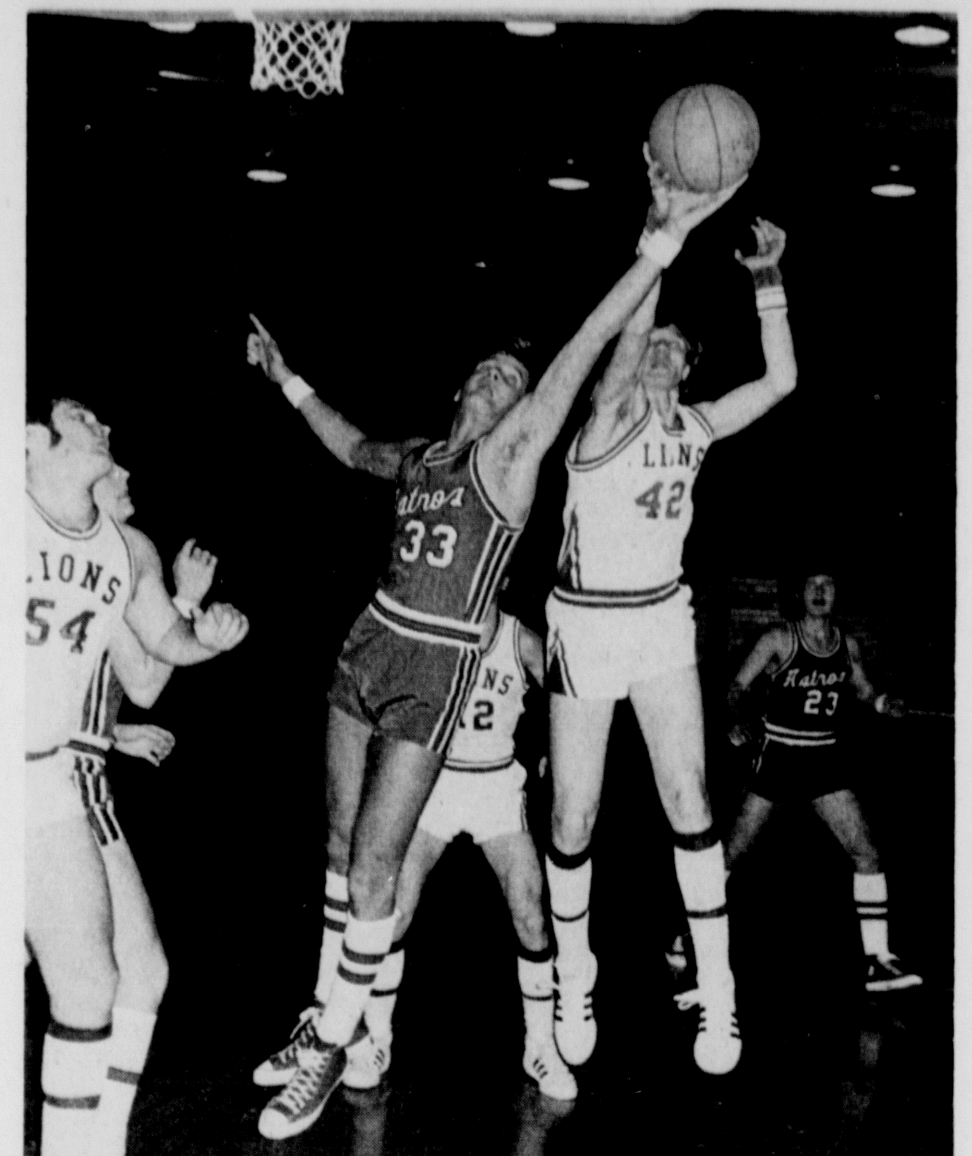

—Texas sent infielder-catcher Bill Sudakis to the Yankees for a player to be named later or cash.

—The Montreal Expos sold outfielder Felipe Alou to the Milwaukee Brewers.

The explosive trading activity Friday, announced while the brass was literally clearing out of town, finished a

Phillips keys WCH's non-league triumph

BY MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion basketball squad added another game in the win column Friday night by whipping the visiting East Clinton Astros by a score of 68-58. The Astros were ahead 2-0 at the beginning of the game and that was the last time they were to have the lead. The Lion attack mixed rebounding, ball-handling wizardry, and their usual scrappiness.

Washington C.H. had to start the game without regular pivotman Jeff Wallace because he still had a touch of the flu. However, his spot was capably filled by giant 6-5 Garth Cox. Cox pulled down many defensive rebounds in the first quarter before being replaced by Wallace.

The first quarter of action saw both teams with a hot hand. Washington C.H.'s attack called for getting a man loose inside mixed with an uncanny eye for the outside shot. The Astros stripped the cords for many outside jumpers, many from as far as 25 feet, but still found themselves behind after first period action, 14-10.

In the second period, sophomore Doug Phillips turned the tide even more in the Blue Lions favor. The 6-3 sophomore sensation poured in 10 points and Washington C.H. led by as much as 14 points, but had to settle for a 31-23 halftime lead.

After intermission, the East Clinton team fought to within two points of the Lions rattling off six big points in just one minute and a half. Their efforts were wasted though as the Lions themselves tallied five counters of their own in the next minute and a half. The result of the hard work by both teams was a slim 50-46 lead for the Blue Lions heading into the fourth quarter.

AT THE start of the final period, the Astros again fought to within only two points of the Lions, but head coach Gary Shaffer elected to go with his regular starting five. The result was Washington C.H. again pulling away from the Astros. East Clinton still had a chance to win the game with almost three minutes remaining but its fouls got the Lions easy points and Washington C.H. won easily 68-58.

The Lion punch was provided by Phillips who ended the game the scoring leader with 24 points. Two other Lions were in double figures along with Phillips Friday night. Another sophomore, Chuck Byrd, threw in 14 points while always reliable senior Kenny Knisley chipped in with 13 counters. The rebounding attack was led by Knisley who pulled down 11 enemy shots and senior Cox who contributed six.

Nets bomb Memphis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Memphis Tams were in stormy weather even before the American Basketball Association season began. Owner Charley Finley wanted to unload the franchise and then the Tams didn't get a coach until mid-September when Butch Van Breda Kolff took over.

Unfortunately, Van Breda Kolff has been unable to get his team in out of the rain.

The Tams Friday lost to the New York Nets, 138-102 for their sixth straight defeat.

"There was a time when we were respectable," said Van Breda Kolff.

Greenfield nips Hillsboro 71-69 in overtime tussle

Greenfield registered its first win inside the South Central Ohio League basketball race Friday night by nipping Highland County rival Hillsboro by a 71-69 score in overtime.

Head coach Sam Snyder's Tigers, who pumped their all-games record to a 2-1 level with the victory, got a nifty 20-point scoring performance from pivotman Steve Willett.

Keven Bailey canned 27 points on the basis of 11 field goals and five free throws to pace Hillsboro's scoring punch.

In other SCOL action Friday, Circleville, got balanced scoring from a quartet of players, to whip Madison Plains by a 66-54 count.

The East Clinton attack was paced also by three players with double figure credentials. Substitute Jim Morris came off the bench and sparked the Astros with 17 cantos while seniors Bill McClary and Jan Rittenhouse added scores of 16 and 12, respectively.

The Washington C.H. team travels to Portsmouth tonight for a rematch of the opening game which Portsmouth took 73-52. It will be the Lions (now 3-1 overall) first road venture of the young season. At the same time, the Washington Senior High School gymnasium will be the neutral grounds for a match that pits the Greenfield Tigers against the East Clinton Astros.

Astros down Lion jayvees

The Washington C.H. reserve basketball team lost its third game in row Friday night at the hands of the East Clinton Astro jayvees by a score of 51-44. Giant 6-3 Dusty Kessler and scrappy 5-10 John Slone combined for 32 of their team's 51 points, an average of 63 per cent of their team points.

There was plenty of action in the game that preceded the Washington C.H.-East Clinton varsity game. Kessler used his height to his advantage and scored many of his points from offensive tip-ins. Slone used his ability on outside shots to hit on most of his baskets from outside the foul line.

One highpoint in the Washington C.H. attack was Scott Sefton leading all Blue Lion jayvee scorers for the third week in a row with ten points. Also, substitutes Mark Lamberson and Randy Jamison came off the bench and helped their team tremendously. Lamberson scorched the nets for eight points in limited duty while pulling down three defensive rebounds. Jamison contributed six points to the losing cause and held Kessler, who had five inches in height over him, to only four points in his limited action.

The Blue Lion jayvees travel to Portsmouth to play their first road game of the year tonight and also travel to Madison Plains on Dec. 14. The next home game will be played at the WSHS gym against Greenfield Dec. 18 prior to the Blue Lion-Tiger game. Game time will be 6 p.m. instead of the regular 6:30 p.m.

Madison Mills PTO planning future events

MADISON MILLS — The planning of a square dance and the school Christmas program headed the agenda for the December meeting of the Madison Mills Parent-Teacher Organization. A movie to be shown at the school in January and the purchase of jackets were also discussed.
Members voted to hold a square dance, featuring Carl Wilt and his band, from 7:30 until 11:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 15, in the school gymnasium. The school Christmas program will be held Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m.
The organization also decided to purchase warm-up jackets for the basketball team. Some of the jackets used last year have been misplaced. The "Son of Flubber" will be shown at the school Jan. 26.
A prize was given to the sixth grade for having the most parents in attendance at the meeting.

Converted office building will use natural energy

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A group of designers plans to use the sun, wind and water to provide power for a 19th century foundry being converted into an office building.

When the renovation is completed next year, energy will be produced by solar panels on the roof, water-powered turbines in an adjacent river and a wind propeller towering over the building.

Then an experiment begins: Will office workers be more conservative in consuming power if they watch it being collected and know the supply is limited?

"You tend to husband your battery in your car, but we don't have that energy consciousness in our buildings," said Ronald Beckman, director of the Research and Design Institute of Providence.

Institute architects and design planners are searching for the most sophisticated insulation, alternate energy sources and solar heating systems available for the three-story brick building, which will become the headquarters for the institute's 25-member staff.

In terms of research of new products, the institute's effort is not radical, Beckman said. He said what is unique is the attempt to utilize a wide variety of natural energy sources in a single system and then study the environmental effects on long-term tenants.

As part of the experiments, the staff will be subjected to different heat and lighting levels to determine what is adequate. Beckman thinks the results may prompt the staff members to change their home energy use.

The institute, a nonprofit behavior and environment research organization, also hopes it will be able to refine some of the energy systems and devise new products providing low-cost energy with no pollution.

Beckman said the institute will be able to generate at least 60 per cent of its power and may be able to become nearly self-sufficient by installing new energy systems as they are developed.

Natural gas pinch

expected until 1980

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Senate committee was told today that restrictions on the sale of natural gas in Ohio will remain in effect at least until 1980.

Marvin White, president of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., said "deficiencies" in the state's traditional pipeline supply from the Southwest cannot be made up for at least five years.

Class 'tailor-made' for 38 male students

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Well, why not? If women are becoming truck drivers, why shouldn't we learn to sew?"

The logic belongs to Frank Mastronardi, a tailor who is among the 38 male students who are now learning to sew at St. Joseph's College through weekly lessons taught by a nun.

The St. Joseph Sewing Center is run by Sister Gloria, C.S.J., who says she's been sewing most of her life and is now happy to be teaching her skills.

"I always hoped to get permission to give lessons so I kept up in the field," says the nun, who has taught people from 8 to 86 the art that is often associated with women. "After wanting to teach sewing for 30 years, I could scarcely believe it when I got the chance five years ago."

Sister Gloria finds "The men are so serious. They concentrate and don't like to talk while they're working. I have to be frank with them about fabric selection and what pattern is correct for their figure type," says Sister Gloria, who teaches the weekly classes to students coming from Connecticut, New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

MASTRONARDI said even though he's a tailor "I'm interested in women's designs and I plan to teach adult sewing classes."

A male bank executive says the skills Sister Gloria is teaching him can save money.

"When I can make a handsome suit for a great deal less than I'd pay in a clothing store, it's powerful inducement to learn to sew," Gilman Michaud says.

Sister Gloria has praise for her male students;

"A man's taste is just as good as a woman's once he's gained some experience in selecting his material."

She says that most of the men in her course enroll with the aim of making items they can wear.

Jefferson Twp. crash injures 3

An early morning accident on West Lancaster Road in Jefferson Township sent three people to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

A car driven by Estle R. Reed, 19, Jamestown, had run out of gas and was stopped on the road. Reed and his passenger, Charles L. Reed, 27, also of Jamestown, were sitting inside the car, resting after pushing it.

At the same time, a car driven by

Fed eases bank reserve requirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board is reducing the amount of money banks must maintain in reserve against certain deposits — a move aimed at making more money available for borrowers.

The board announced Friday that effective next Thursday it is reducing from 11 to 8 per cent its reserve requirement on certificates of deposit in denominations of $100,000 and over.

It said this should reduce by about $375 million the reserves banks must maintain, thereby making it easier for banks to meet the credit needs of their customers.

The tight 11 per cent requirement had been imposed in September to slow what the board viewed as excessive borrowing by business. However, the tight restrictions caused interest rates throughout the economy to soar to record levels.

The board action Friday was viewed as a possible indication that the interest rate peak may be past.

But even as it was announced, New York's First National City Bank boosted its prime lending rate to 10 per cent.

The increase — amounting to a one fourth of one per cent boost — was quickly followed by Banker's Trust Co. and Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh and there were predictions that the 10 per cent rate would be industrywide within a week.

Michael E. Davis was approaching with an unidentified car in front of him.

The unidentified car swerved into the oncoming traffic lane to pass the stalled car, but Davis hit his brakes, couldn't stop and slammed into it.

The impact knocked the stalled car off the right side of the road, while the Davis auto went off the left side and into a fence owned by Merle Jenkins, of Jeffersonville.

Sheriff's deputies were alerted to the accident when it occurred at 3:16 a.m. Saturday and reported both cars demolished.

Davis was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital with lacerations of the right hand and elbow and abrasions of the right knee; Estle Reed, for back and stomach pain, Charles Reed, for pain in the left rib area. The Reeds were treated and released.

THE SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT covered another accident at 10 a.m., Friday in which two semi trucks involved. The drivers, Jesse J. Howell, 45, Cleveland, and James D. Plunkett, 27, Jacksonville, Fla., were parked at Garner's 76 station at the intersection of U.S. 35 and I-71.

Slight damage was done when the truck driven by Howell started to leave and hit the other truck in which driver Plunkett was sleeping.

Police reported a minor accident involving two parked cars on W. Market Street at 12:17 p.m., Friday.

A car driven by Billie P. Shaw, 35, of 723 McLean St. scraped a car owned by Lee E. Altenus, of Rt. 3.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

It is an honor to be chosen as a pallbearer at a funeral service. Usually six active pallbearers are selected. It is also appropriate to name honorary pallbearers, to recognize the deceased's close associates in business, civic, and fraternal affairs. Your funeral director can advise on this procedure.

Respectfully,

Agnew continues to get protection

Thefts from parked cars checked by city police

City police reported the theft of radio knobs and cigarette lighters from 16 cars valued at $64.

The cars were parked at Carroll Halliday Inc., located at 525 Clinton Ave., in the used car lot when the incident took place sometime between 9 p.m., Thursday and 8:30 p.m., Friday.

One car was reported as having its gear shift lever jerked from the "lock-park" position, damaging the selector system.

IT WAS also reported to police that sometime after 9 p.m., Thursday a truck owned by and parked at the Halliday lot had been hot-wired and taken for a ride. It was returned with a broken windshield and two full bottles of beer under the front seat.

Police found fresh tennis shoe imprints in the truck bed.

Police also reported a stolen tool box containing tools from a car owned by Raymond Stiffler, 1222 S. Hinde St.

The car had been unlocked and parked in the rear of the Stiffler residence when the incident occurred

DRIVER INJURED — A 35-year-old Dayton man was taken to Greene Memorial Hospital early Saturday after he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of this tractor-trailer rig. George Mickey was westbound on U.S. 35, near Cherry

Grove Road in Greene County, when he drove off the right side of the road. The truck crashed into a fence and overturned, spilling a load of metal brake drums over a farmer's field. The driver was taken to the hospital by the Jamestown Rescue squad. He was treated and released.

House to get energy bill soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to give President Nixon a free hand in ordering gasoline rationing — a step he says is a last resort — is expected to reach the House floor next week.

The House Commerce Committee on Friday approved the emergency bill which Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., said "affects every person in the land."

The legislation, requested by the President, also would slow clean air efforts to conserve fuel and would create a Federal Energy Administration.

Meanwhile, the Senate approved unanimously a bill calling on the government to spend $20 billion toward making the United States self-sufficient in energy by 1985.

The 82-0 vote sends the measure to the House, where an environmental subcommittee will meet Monday to consider it.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., sponsor of the bill, said he hopes for House passage by February.

The bill sets up an interagency group which Jackson said is designed to run the program until the government's energy efforts are reorganized on a long-term basis.

"The highest priority on a short-time basis should include an all-out effort to burn coal directly under boilers and get rid of pollutants," Jackson said.

In the House, Chairman Staggers said he hoped the emergency energy bill would reach the floor on Wednesday. The Senate already has passed legislation containing many of the provisions of the House bill.

However, committee members indicated that after expected House passage of the bill, a lengthy Senate-House conference would be required to reconcile the differing versions.

Before approving the bill, the Commerce Committee adopted an amendment that would temporarily exempt the petroleum industry from antitrust laws in order to work out common plans for allocating scarce fuels.

The bill would require car makers to meet the 1975 emission standards and suspend any further exhaust clean-up until 1977.

In other developments: —Congressional and government attorneys said any state that attempted to defy an order from Washington to lower its speed limits would find itself on shaky legal ground. One Capitol Hill lawyer said, "There's just no question about the authority of the federal government to reduce speed limits to conserve fuel."

—Budget Director Roy L. Ash said the energy crisis will have a minimal impact on the administration's fiscal 1975 budget. Ash said it would reduce federal revenues by an estimated $2 billion to $3 billion.

—Reports circulated that Nixon planned to take a train to a weekend stay at Camp David, Md. Amtrak employees said they had been told to spruce up themselves and their equipment for the President.

Energy pinch saving lives?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state Highway Department official says there may be a silver lining in the energy-shortage cloud.

Fred Vierow, deputy director of the department, says reduced traffic and lower speeds on weekends could have a dramatic effect on the highway death toll.

"Last weekend was the first many gas stations were closed," Vierow noted. "Saturday night and Sunday, eight persons died on Ohio roads, compared to the 20 killed during the same period last year."

The eight fatalities also represent a drop from 13 recorded last year.

The eight fatalities also represent a drop from 13 recorded the week before and from the 26 or 27 recorded on some weekends in October and November.

Vierow said a dramatically lower death toll is possible because about 20 per cent of the weekend traffic deaths occur on Saturday and about 17 per cent on Sunday.

The deputy director also noted most Ohioans seem to be holding the line at the recommended 55 miles per hour during the fuel emergency. He said many motorists also appear to be cutting out non-essential driving.

He advised drivers seeking to stretch their fuel dollar to accelerate and brake gently; avoid long warm-ups or idling; turn off radio, heater and defroster before starting; use a cold-weather motor oil, and avoid wheel spinning.

The News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left for Europe today with promises to U.S. allies of "advance consultation" across the Atlantic in the future.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to President Nixon Friday a bill designed to remove a constitutional barrier to the nomination of Sen. William B. Saxbe as attorney general.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Eastern Airlines will lay off nearly 5,000 of its 34,000 employees by the end of the month, a union spokesman says.

Trans World Airlines, meanwhile, announced plans to furlough 350 low-seniority pilots next year as it curtails operations to meet a 15 per cent drop in fuel allocations.

Big rigs end highway blockades

Truckers appeased

WASHINGTON (AP) — A truck drivers' rebellion that resulted in blockaded highways has slowed to low gear after a federal agency promised concessions.

About 700 drivers threatened to block the Ohio Turnpike near Toledo early today, but they appeared to be the last holdouts.

Meanwhile, Teamsters union President Frank Fitzsimmons arranged to meet today with President Nixon to discuss the truckers' grievances about fuel limitations, price gouging on fuel by some retailers and lowered speed limits.

Fitzsimmons, who has not supported the truckers' sporadic blockades of major highways, met for more than an hour Friday night with William E. Simon, head of the new Federal Energy Administration.

A delegation of four truckers who have negotiated in Washington with various government agencies went back behind the wheel after receiving a key concession from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC agreed to revise its procedures to permit truck operators to pass along quickly to shippers increased costs caused by the fuel price hikes.

ICC Chairman George Stafford said the commission likely would shorten to 10 days the notification period truck operators must give their customers before changing rates. The period now ranges from 30 to 45 days.

The ICC announcement satisfied the four-man delegation, which said it represented an informal group of truck operators.

"We don't see any reason for a shutdown now, said J.W. 'River Rat' Edwards of Overland Park, Kan., spokesman for the group. "We're going back to our units tonight and start hauling."

A second group, sponsored by Overdrive Magazine, also has been meeting with federal officials and has threatened a shutdown by its membership next Thursday and Friday unless their demands are met.

Sporadic blockades by angry truckers snarled traffic on major highways this week, but the problems stopped Friday night.

After their meeting, both Simon and Fitzsimmons said chances were good for avoiding any nationwide demonstration by truckers.

"If I wasn't an optimist I wouldn't be doing this," Simon said. "I think I can avoid that," he added in reference to a truck tie-up.

Also attending the meeting were Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and trucking companies representatives and truck stop operators.

Fitzsimmons said he pressed the drivers' desire for nothing less than a 60-mile-per-hour speed limit, but Simon indicated the government felt it could not relax its 55-mile-per-hour guideline under present circumstances.

A spokesman for the drivers at Toledo, near the intersection of the Ohio Turnpike and Interstate 280, said the ICC promise was not good enough.

"We're getting sold down the river," said G. W. Bassett of Youngstown. Bassett said he wanted written confirmation of the ICC proposal.

Bassett said the truckers who went to Washington did not represent the truckers of America and he said three of his group were on their way to the capital.

He warned of a nationwide shutdown of everything but emergency vehicles if demands were not met.

The Ohio truck driver who met with federal officials called on fellow hauliers to get their rigs rolling again after the conference.

"We are getting action that will solve some of our problems," said Fred Shaw of Shelby.

Shaw described the drivers' reception in Washington as "fantastic" and said officials of the Department of Transportation and the Internal Revenue Service were "definitely sympathetic" to the truckers' plight.

A number of drivers appeared to honor Shaw's call to get back on the road. An attendant at the Hebron truck stop near Columbus, which had been a center of driver activity a day earlier, reported the parking lot almost empty.

But authorities continued to keep a wary eye on large groups of drivers at major truck stops in Ohio and other states.

Up to 1,000 tractor trailers were reported clustered at stops in Lamar, Pa., as drivers waited for word of the outcome of the Washington talks.

Iowa's Gov. Robert Ray ordered Highway Patrolmen and National Guard military police to Davenport, after drivers were overheard calling on citizen-band radios for a blockade of Interstate 80.

Truckers blocked one lane of Interstate 90 near Rapid City S.D., for about three hours. But the highway patrol reported traffic continued to flow.

See big surge in Soviet outlays for weaponry

BRUSSELS (AP) — North Atlantic Treaty Organization experts are predicting a surge in Soviet spending on new weapons.

They said expected Soviet weaponry spending could upgrade Moscow's arsenal significantly between 1974 and 1976.

The report on Soviet military spending was issued as 13 NATO defense ministers closed their semi-annual two-day meeting Friday. France did not participate and Iceland has no defense minister.

The NATO analysts see a long-term upward trend in Soviet spending, averaging out to about 3 per cent a year. Within that trend, they expect the Soviets to follow a spending pattern that first puts heavy emphasis on research and development, and then on installing new weapons systems.

Right now, according to the experts, Soviet research and development and missile testing is at an all-time high. They say the next stage will be heavy spending on weapons procurement between 1974 and 1976.

During that period Moscow is expected to install new intercontinental ballistic missiles and otherwise build up its forces to the limits set at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

Metzenbaum faces back tax claims

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Democratic senatorial hopeful Howard Metzenbaum, reacting to a news report he owes $118,358 in back income taxes, said he has filed suit to contest the Internal Revenue Service decision.

"My tax attorneys have filed a lawsuit in the U.S. Tax Court in Washington contesting the claim," said the unsuccessful Democrat candidate for U.S. Senate from Ohio in 1970.

"At this point we owe the government no money, but if the court decides any money is due, it will be paid promptly."

Metzenbaum reacted to a report in The Cincinnati Enquirer Saturday morning that the IRS had filed a claim for $118,358 in back taxes against him last April.

The IRS challenged the tax records of Metzenbaum and his wife for the years 1967 and 1968 after disallowing a tax loss involving property rent losses in Louisiana.

"We are trying to work out something with the IRS regional counsel here now on the schedule for proceeding with our fight," said Metzenbaum's Cleveland attorney Stephen Kadish.

Metzenbaum said he hopes to be named by Ohio Gov. John Gilligan to the seat held by U.S. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio. Congress passed legislation Friday clearing way for Saxbe to be appointed U.S. attorney general.

The tax dispute involves an ethane extraction plant which Metzenbaum said he rented to the Allied Chemical Corp. for 15 years.

The IRS ruled the losses claimed by Metzenbaum were not "bona fide for federal income tax purposes."

The ruling increased Metzenbaum's taxable income $22,372 in 1967 and $182,541 in 1968, according to IRS records.

Metzenbaum said his suit was filed in July, 1973.

Other deficiencies resulted from Metzenbaum's failure to list $1,299 in 1967 dividends from ITT Consumer Service, according to the IRS.

Tax officials also said the Metzenbaums claimed $10,647 more than they should in charitable deductions in 1968 and $8,816 in 1967.

Ex-Nixon aide given SBA help

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Small Business Administration has certified two firms owned in part by a former White House aide as eligible for government contracts earmarked for "socially and economically disadvantaged."

Robert J. Brown, a former $36,000-a-year special assistant to President Nixon, owns a substantial part of each of the firms.

Brown's Cade Services Inc. of Santa Ana, Calif., received an $863,651 contract July 31 from the Defense Department, with the SBA as the middle-agency negotiator. The job is operation of the mess halls at El Toro Marine Base in California.

Brown made what the SBA called "an informal inquiry" Aug. 20 about getting a second Defense Department contract for food services at Ft. Lewis, Wash., the SBA said Friday.

The SBA rejected that proposal Sept. 1, said Assistant SBA Administrator Randall Woods, because "we wanted to see how much success he had on performing under the original contract."

About three weeks ago, the Atlanta regional office of the SBA approved Brown's second firm, B&C Associates, as being eligible for the noncompetitive bid contracts. The contracts are negotiated by the SBA from the rest of the government for the disadvantaged and minorities.

"There are no contracts awarded to the firm yet but they have been accepted and put on the list," an SBA spokesman said.

Brown, who was the top black official at the White House during Nixon's first term, left the White House in February.

Soon afterwards, an SBA minority business enterprise specialist who had been detailed to Brown at the White House also quit government service. He is reported by an SBA source to be working for Brown's consulting service.

Attempts to reach Brown for comment were unsuccessful.

The SBA is authorized by Congress to act as contractor for the rest of the government and to funnel federal dollars to high-potential but struggling disadvantaged and minority firms which cannot compete in the marketplace.

Woods described the program as "a very arbitrary program designed to help the socially and economically disadvantaged minorities get into mainstream."

Ford defends President; sees eventual exoneration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford rejects the idea that President Nixon's Watergate troubles have made him a political liability to fellow Republicans.

Ford firmly defended the President at a news conference Friday less than 24 hours after he took his oath as the nation's 40th vice president.

Many Republican lawmakers have privately expressed fears Nixon's low rating in public opinion polls may rub off on them. However, Ford said "If they had the opportunity to have the President appear, almost without exception they would be glad to have him."

Earlier, talking with newsmen during a picture-taking session outside the Senate chamber, Ford said "I don't think the President is a political liability to any candidate."

In his first full day as vice president, Ford spent barely over an hour presiding over the Senate.

He met for 45 minutes at the White House with President Nixon, where he was given a description of some vice presidential duties. He also received word that the President would present "some new programs" to Congress and reiteration that Nixon won't resign.

Ford said he asked the President about that so he would know what to say when he appears Sunday on a television program.

"The President has no intention whatsoever of resigning," Ford reported. "I have heard it before and it was reiterated to me this morning."

"I personally do not think he should resign," the vice president added, noting also that he sees "no evidence whatsoever" to justify a House vote in favor of impeaching Nixon.

He said he expects Nixon to release this month details of his finances and of his handling of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and milk fund cases.

"When all of the facts are out," the vice president said, "he did assure me he will be completely exonerated. There will be no fair charges of involvement."

Agriculture seen as major energy source

WOOSTER — Agriculture could well become a major source of energy in the future, according to a leading Ohio agricultural leader.

Plants are the major converters of solar energy into usable and storable energy, and they represent a renewable source of energy, explained Roy M. Kottman, dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics and director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. His remarks were contained in an address scheduled for delivery at the Extension State Advisory Committee meeting at OARDC here Dec. 7.

"A BUSHEL of corn and a bushel of wheat can each produce nearly three gallons of alcohol which can be used as fuel," Kottman said. "Some of our agricultural scientists at Ohio State are exploring the possibility of chemically treating and then physically distilling soybean oil to produce a fuel substitute for gasoline, liquefied natural gas and other forms of energy-producing fuels."

Kottman noted that the departments of Agricultural Engineering and Agronomy at OARDC are working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on a study of the use of organic matter as a raw material source for producing fuel. He said the first concern in agriculture must be for meeting domestic as well as foreign demand for food, while one of the great challenges of the future will be to produce both food and industrial energy from farm and forest crops.

Energy can be obtained from many of the solid wastes which are produced in our nation, said Kottman. It has been estimated that the U.S. produces 940 million tons of solid wastes each year — wastes which have an energy value equal to 1.2 billion barrels of oil, or 7½ per cent of the total oil now used.

One of our future challenges in agricultural research is to develop and implement effective, economical methods for using waste products from agriculture and forestry, the dean said. Such products include cereal straw, grain hulls, corn stalks, soybean straw, sawdust, wood pulp and animal wastes, all of which can be used for methane production. Livestock and poultry manure produced in the U.S. embodies a potential volume of methane gas equal to five per cent of our total natural gas production.

"Agriculture and forestry can contribute significantly to our nation's energy conservation effort," Kottman stated. "We can, for example, return to the use of natural fibers in place of the energy-demanding synthetic fibers that now account for 70 per cent of our U.S. fiber market. The fossil fuel energy input into sheep production is very small. Production of a pound of cotton requires only about 40 per cent as much energy as the production of a pound of synthetic fibers.

"Furthermore, the non-cellulosic synthetic fibers are derived from petroleum and natural gas, so we might well rely more heavily on the cellulosic synthetic fibers that are derived from a renewable natural resource such as the cellulose produced by our forests.

The Farm Notebook

Farmer's Tax Guide now available here

BY JOHN P. GRUBER
COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT,
AGRICULTURE

The 1974 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide are available at the County Extension Office. The tax guide is prepared to help farmers with their 1973 tax return. Examples throughout the booklet show how the tax laws apply to actual farming situations.

The publication also lists new tax developments, although changes are few in Federal tax reporting for this year. I would term the Farmer's Tax Guide as a must reading for any farmer before starting income tax preparation. It will also be a good tool for use in year end tax management.

While we're on the subject of tax management, I want to report an excellent turnout for the Farm Tax Workshop held Thursday afternoon at the Extension Meeting Room. Fifty farmers and farm wives were on hand for the session which was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service.

THE THIRD session of the sheep production, management, and marketing workshop will be held Tuesday night in the Farm Bureau Auditorium. Jim Polson, Area Extension Agent Farm Management and Ralph Grimshaw, Extension Sheep Specialist will be discussing the economics of various forage storage and handling systems for Ohio

Sheepmen and production costs and returns for various levels of lambs marketed per ewe.

DIRECTORS of the Fayette County Cattlemen's Association will be meeting Wednesday, December 12 at 8 p.m. in the Extension Meeting Room. Directors will be planning for the annual Cattlemen's banquet scheduled for January 14 and other winter activities of the association. Our directors are urged to be present for the meeting.

SOYBEAN producers throughout Ohio will have an opportunity to vote for or against the Ohio Soybean Marketing Referendum January 8, 9, and 10. It is estimated that there are 55,000 soybean producers in Ohio who will have an opportunity to cast their ballot at County Extension Offices.

The purpose of the soybean marketing program is to aid the growth and development of the soybean industry in Ohio through market development, promotion, and research not otherwise provided for.

If approved by the soybean producers, a ½ cent per bushel "check-off" or levy will be collected from each bushel of soybeans sold in Ohio. Sixty percent of the funds will be used for foreign market development and promotion. The other forty percent will be used for research toward developing improved varieties and cultural practices which would result in efficient soybean production.

Fayette County soybean producers are urged to keep the dates in mind and to vote during the referendum.

Farmers eye hike in cash rental rates

With good farming prospects for 1974, many landowners who did not share in the higher farm profits of this year because they rented on a cash basis, are considering raising rents, points out a Purdue University agricultural economist. On the other hand, prospective cash tenants are bidding up rental rates in order to get more land for next year.

Dr. J.H. Atkinson says that a flexible or sliding scale cash rent may be desirable in some cases — absentee landlords, widows without business experience, persons who prefer a more certain income, tenants with good financing and management ability.

Under this arrangement, Atkinson explains, the amount of cash rent would vary with the price of grain, thus allowing the landlord to share in the profits from higher prices and yet not increasing the renter's risk beyond acceptable limits.

A simple flexible rental agreement is one in which the amount of rent is equal to a specified quantity of grain times the price at a predetermined place and date. Either minimum or maximum rents can be set and to protect the tenant a provision included to prohibit any increase if average yields for the farm fell below a predetermined level.

However, when considering a flexible cash lease don't try to make it do what a 50-50 share lease can do better, Atkinson cautions.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Israeli elections key to peace?

WASHINGTON — Elections, as we learned a year ago, may decide a lot or they may mean nothing at all. An election is coming up on the last day of this year that can be momentous for American foreign policy and for the savage crunch of the oil shortage.

Israel will go to the polls for a vote that was postponed when the war broke out. They will determine whether the familiar leadership with Premier Golda Meir will continue or whether disillusion over the outcome of the war and anger at the terms of the cease-fire will bring in a new, tough faction.

Predictions of the outcome are hard to come by whether in Tel Aviv or Washington. But if in the wave of disillusion and distrust the hard-liners triumph, the chances for a negotiated peace are hardly hopeful.

Strange phenomena are reported by Israelis taking stock in the sad aftermath of the war. Mrs. Meir and Moshe Dayan have been booed in public, something that never happened before. They are blamed for the failure to move swiftly enough to meet the Arab attack, as well as for failing to heed intelligence reports of a large Egyptian military buildup.

ISRAEL as a wounded nation is the somber verdict of young Israelis who see the idealism and the buoyant hope of recent years draining away. The official government figure of dead in the war was 1,844. When all the missing in action are accounted for, the total may be as high as 2,400. For the United States, with its population of 220 million, that would be equivalent to 200,000 dead in 17 days of war.

The cost of the war is another fearful weight on the future of the Jewish state. While this cannot compare with the loss of the best and the bravest, a total of $6 billion is a staggering figure for a nation that has been spending up to 25 per cent of its total gross national product on defense.

Dayan is coming to America with two objectives. One is to make a new and dramatic plea to the United Jewish Appeal for funds to help make up the deficit. The other goal is to sound out Secretary of State Henry Kissinger on the American posture toward negotiation. That posture will depend in large part on the outcome of the election on Dec. 31.

DESPITE the constant alarms and excursions along the uncertain cease-fire line, Dr. Kissinger remains optimistic that it will hold. Therefore, Egypt, Israel and perhaps also Syria will sit down at the formal opening of a conference in Geneva on or about Dec. 18.

This will be only the ceremonial start of what Dr. Kissinger hopes will be a long and often bleak negotiation looking to a lasting peace in the Middle East. The Israelis have said that they cannot discuss anything substantive until after the election.

If the hard-liners win and a comparative moderate like Mrs. Meir is forced out, the American position as a kind of wet nurse to the negotiation will be difficult. Without Israeli concessions or at the start a willingness to consider restoration of some of the territory conquered in the 1967 war, the Arab position will harden and the oil crunch will be tougher.

BUT HOW MUCH pressure can Dr. Kissinger and President Nixon put on an intractable government in Jerusalem? The $2.2 billion military assistance bill for Israel moving toward passage is an answer of sorts.

The measure drafted by the Administration gives the President what is probably unprecedented authority. He may hand over the weapons — planes to replace the more than 700 lost by Israel in the war — as a gift or on long- or short-term credits as he decides. Or on his own decision he may withhold all military assistance.

In Rep. Otta Passman's subcommittee the $2.2 billion was cut by $400 million. But the full amount was restored in the Appropriations Committee and it is expected to go through the House without difficulty. Under steadily mounting pressures the Senate may act before the end of the session.

The choices, looked at in the grimest fashion, are between a negotiated peace and another war. Even a war of attrition would be far more destructive for a nation of 3 million than for the Arabs. The logic, therefore, is for peace.

Yet that election may say something quite different about the frustration of those who believe they were cheated or victory on Oct. 22.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. SUNDAY, DEC. 9

A different approach rather than a complete change of objective may be the keynote to your success now. Take time to think things out, to absorb details.

(April 21 to May 21)

False statements COULD mislead but, under day's capital influences, you should be able to discriminate well. Just be alert.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Proceed with vigor now and get projects headed in the right direction. Consult with those who can give you a boost.

It may be difficult for you to put over your ideas and opinions but, in discussions, do not be fanatical and, certainly, start no disconcerting arguments.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Merely "minding the store" will not be enough now; you must pay closer attention to trends, study the attitudes of others and don't make promises you can't keep.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Better than average planetary aspects but your set-up calls for more reviewing, reconstruction. Keep things in proper focus.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Great activity indicated in your area—which should prove highly stimulating. Especially favored:

Outdoor interests, community projects, cultural activities.

There's a touch of the mystic about you too, which sometimes expresses itself in music or poetry. Your talents are such that your choice of a career is almost limitless, but your greatest fortes include finance, business administration, science, the law, statesmanship and medicine. Also, with your keen sense of line and proportion, you would make an excellent architect.

MONDAY, DEC. 10

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

You may have to make some concessions now, but that would be better than losing out altogether. And when you make them, do be gracious. Drop that chip the Arien sometimes carries on his shoulder.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

A situation on your home base may be annoying, but try to understand the dilemma confronting a family member. If faced in a mature manner, you can help find a solution.

A short journey in the near future could bring profit, pleasure. Throw off secret fears, doubts. You are on the right track. An "old flame" is due to reappear.

A new outlook will help you to improve relations with associates, co-workers. Insight may come through your highly intuitive faculties. . . more flexibility through the erasure of past concepts.

A day in which to stress your self-confidence, show what you can do. A unique idea, coupled with plans for carrying it out, will impress superiors.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Your financial situation about to improve. A member of the opposite sex will provide useful information — and inspiration. You will know what has to be done.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Do not become frustrated over possible delays or disappointments. With your innate intelligence and ingenuity, you can change undesirable situations.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Fine planetary influences. With initiative and enterprise, more than usual can be achieved. Day will definitely respond to spunk, pulling power.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

It's not like you to throw your weight around, insist on your own way or give ultimatums, but such tendencies prevail now. So . . . watch your step. There's no use in alienating others.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a fair chance. Be steadfast. Nothing has changed since activities were initiated.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A day for listening well and voicing honest opinions. Take stock of why certain maneuvers and tactics did not succeed in the past and avoid them now.

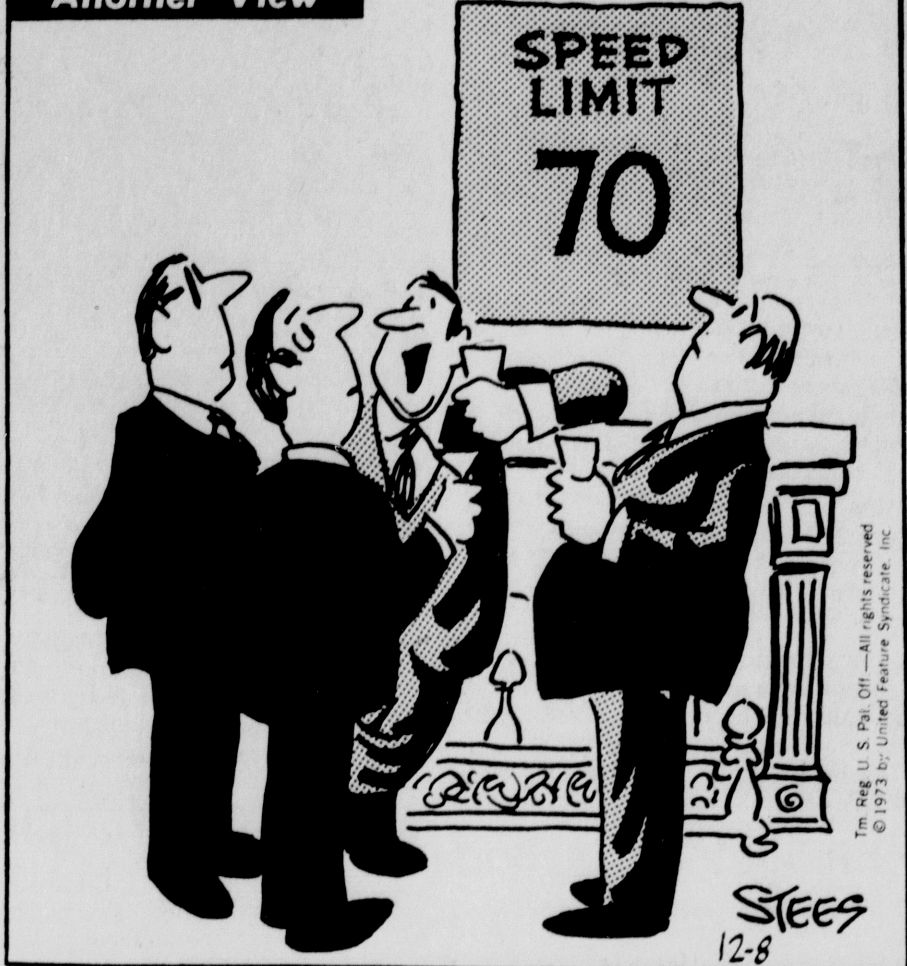

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A day in which to get away from routine. New scenes, new places, new people could spark a brand new interest in your life, make it more stimulating.

YOU BORN TODAY are roundly talented and will show definite leanings toward certain interests early in life. Follow your intuition: it is potent. You have an intense love of freedom and independence and may eschew marriage and domesticity for fear of being "trapped." Where your career is concerned, you have many choices, notably in the business and (or) financial world; in music, literature, medicine, the law or science. You have an ardent nature, but are not particularly demonstrative; love the outdoors, sports and animals.

Wallace deducts for papers

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace received a personal income tax deduction by donating his 1968 presidential campaign papers to the state, the Montgomery Advertiser reports.

The newspaper said in today's editions that Wallace made his deduction of about $30,000 under the same law which President Nixon used in claiming deductions for some of his papers.

The director of state archives, Milo Howard, confirmed that the Alabama Department of Archives and History had the Wallace papers but declined to say what value was put on them.

"That's a personal matter between the governor and the archives," Howard said. The director also refused to show the papers.

"It was a restricted gift and can be seen only with permission from Governor Wallace or the executor of his estate for the next 25 years," Howard said.

The Advertiser said another restriction gives Wallace or his executor the right to remove the papers from the archives if another library is set aside for the Wallace family.

The story said about 300,000 pages were donated, with a deduction of 10 cents per page.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

How many men cheat on wives? Who knows?

DEAR ABBY: I read an article which stated: "Ninety seven per cent of all married men cheat on their wives and only six per cent of all married women cheat on their husbands."

I told my husband this, and he said he thought those statistics were way off, that it should have been higher for women, and lower for men.

What do you think?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: There is probably no other subject about which so many people lie; so where sex is concerned, I wouldn't accept any figure as gospel.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25, and Ken is 40. We've been happily married for six years and have a daughter 5, and I'm expecting again.

My problem: Ken has three sons, 14, 12, and 9, who have been living with his ex-wife, and these boys are hard to handle. I know because we've had them for vacations.

His ex-wife has had three husbands in the last five years, and now she's living with a minor! Ken says it would be easy for us to get custody of his kids now, but Abby, I don't want them. They like me, and I make them mind, but it's so difficult! The older one has run away twice, and the 12-year-old is on probation for shoplifting.

I don't know what I'll do if I have to raise these boys, Abby. I love my husband and don't want to lose him, but I don't think I can handle those wild kids.

CRACKING UP

DEAR CRACKING: The boys desperately need love and acceptance. Don't reject them. Your Family Service

BRIDGE HONOR—Rod Wright, 505 N. North St., was honored Friday night by the Miami Valley Bridge Association as the outstanding first-year bridge player in the Dayton area. Wright, who until recently had been living in Fairborn, began playing bridge last fall. The trophy was presented to him by the association president Hank Grismer.

Bridge trophy is presented

A young Washington C.H. bridge enthusiast took a huge stride Friday toward gaining the notoriety among South-Central Ohio bridge players enjoyed by his parents for many years.

Rod Wright, 23, of 505 N. North St., son of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wright, was honored by the Miami Valley Bridge Association as the outstanding first-year bridge player in the Dayton area, and was presented a trophy by MUBA President Hank Grismer. Currently in the U.S. Air Force, Wright had been living in Fairborn until moving to his parents home recently.

Stationed in California for over a year, he was transferred to Wright-Patterson Field last fall and became interested in the game which had fascinated his parents.

Grasping the game very quickly,

Wright began playing tournament bridge almost immediately and has an outstanding record of high finishes over the past year, including two consecutive first places in team-of-four competition. He was partnered with Mrs. Bruce Jackson and his parents in those events.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright, who began playing bridge in Springfield, have been highly regarded in the Dayton and Columbus areas for longer than they care to remember.

The younger Wright's bridge career is likely to be hampered slightly in the near future because he will be leaving for Okinawa in January. His assignment calls for him to be there for about a year, and tournament bridge in the area is somewhat limited.

Country Club setting for dance

One hundred and fifty guests were present for the second annual dance held by the staff of ConChemco Incorporated for employees and other guests at the Washington Country Club Friday evening.

Guests danced to the music of Luther Bolen and his orchestra until 1 a.m. A cocktail hour preceded the dance. Hors d'oeuvres were available during the evening from a buffet table.

Committee members were Mr. and Mrs. Don Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stoughton, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Calendine, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gentry and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hossie.

Country Club festive for bridge party

The tables were festive Thursday for the weekly bridge luncheon at the Washington Country Club. Christmas decorations adorned the lounge at the Club and a holiday motif prevailed.

Mrs. Walter Fultz and Mrs. Ervin Miller were guests of Mrs. Ronald Cornwell for the day.

Winners in bridge were Mrs. Wayne Shobe, first; Miss Elizabeth McDonald, second; and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, third.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Hanawalt, Mrs. Robert Heiny and Mrs. Robert Harris.

New bride feted at pretty shower

Miss Landrum has asked Mary Eckle to be matron of honor and Pam Landrum for maid of honor.

Bill Leasure will serve as best man.

Seating the wedding guests will be Terry Eckle and Randy Knox, both of Washington C.H.

Appalachia has Santa special

By ELIZABETH MORIARTY
Johnson City Press-Chronicle
KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — In some places, you couldn't even see the houses the children came from.

But there they were, in groups of two or three, standing beside the single track, waiting for the Santa Claus special.

The sun held its way into the backwoods hollows of Appalachia, displacing the morning mist, and the children stood and waited for a brief glimpse of old No. 1, its white flags snapping, clouds of steam, a well-worked tender, and finally the car edged in holly carrying Santa and a load of pre-Christmas surprises.

"I'll bet that's about it for some of those kids as far as Christmas is concerned," said one of the men tossing candy and books and toys off the back of the train. A look at the hard, lined faces of the adults along the track and the sometimes crazily leaning shanties visible from the train were evidence he might be right.

It was the 31st annual Santa Claus

special, a project of Clinchfield Railroad and the Kingsport Chamber of Commerce.

Over 1½ tons of candy alone were donated by Kingsport businessmen for this year's 93-mile journey between Elkhorn City, Ky., and Kingsport last week. The route winds through southwestern Virginia and coal mining country.

And there were other gifts too—fish tanks and ant mazes by the score, books, toys, stuffed animals, pads of paper, balloons, and even panty hose and stockings for the women along the way.

Old No. 1 is Clinchfield's 90-year-old steam engine, "Rosebud." It provided the whistle, the steam—but most of the power came from two diesel locomotives.

"We've never run out of candy yet," said one of the veterans of the journey. "And we won't this year."

The mood on the train was jovial, but they got the job done. Two men stationed themselves on either side of the back platform, watching for children.

"There's a small group on the right," one called out. "How small?" "About half a dozen. Two car lengths away." Tom Moore, Clinchfield general manager, reached his gloved hands into the mass of green and red taffy candy. Santa reached for a handful of balloons and books.

"Now call the watchman." And, as if by magic, the candy and toys landed on the tracks beside the children.

All day that was the sight, candy bouncing, leaves from the paper pads fluttering, and the children running. Many came armed with paper bags to pick up the booty.

In the larger towns along the route, the train made brief stops. The back of the train was engulfed by people. Reaching hands, upturned faces, paper bags held open, little children on their fathers' shoulders.

"I don't know that I've ever seen so many people waiting for the train," said A.B. Coleman, of Kingsport Chamber of Commerce. Coleman has made the journey 30 of the 31 years.

play for "Cinderella Liberty"—and both have been well received in previews.

The Pentagon decided that neither qualified for Navy cooperation in filming.

Movie studios have long made use of troops and materiel on the argument that their films contributed to the glory of the armed forces. The military began to take a closer look at movie cooperation after "Tora! Tora! Tora!"

The 20th Century-Fox film made great use of military personnel and property to recreate the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The government was compensated, but the arrangement was a bargain for the film company; without U.S. assistance, production cost would have been far greater than the $25 million spent.

The Pentagon was sharply criticized in Congress and elsewhere by those who asked: "Why cooperate on a film about America's greatest defeat?"

Since then, the brass has scrutinized every request for help in filming.

Mark Rydell, director of "Cinderella Liberty," said, "We reached out for the Navy's help. We needed a destroyer, a Navy base, a Navy hospital and the services of hundreds of sailors."

"We were perfectly willing to pay the sailors at the going rate and not interfere with any Navy operations."

"The script, we thought, was a very moral tale about a boswain mate, first class who is a naive, solid American man. He has been in the Navy 15 to 20 years and he says, 'The Navy is my life; I love it.' That's the best possible image for the Navy."

At first the Pentagon seemed to agree. Officials said they liked the script and asked Rydell to come to Washington to discuss a few changes. They were mostly in language. The script had an executive officer chastising the hero for marrying a girl who was a "semi-pro whore." The speech was okay—if it was delivered by a non-commissioned officer.

Rydell made the changes, the script was approved, and the director toured Navy bases on both coasts to find a location. He chose Seattle.

Then, four weeks before shooting was to begin, the Pentagon rescinded its cooperation, Rydell said. He said he learned that a high-ranking admiral disapproved of the script. No amount of argument could change the decision.

Gerald Ayres, producer of "The Last Detail," never got far with the Pentagon. He submitted the script, which concerns three roistering sailors on a spree before one has to report to a Navy prison. The reply: "We don't feel it's flattering to the Navy."

Deer Park runs out of needed gasoline

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The suburb of Deer Park ran out of gasoline Friday and police and fire vehicles were ordered to purchase fuel at commercial stations as needed.

The gasoline crisis has closed a number of service stations in Washington C.H. Most recent of the closings, Charlie Campbell's Arco at the corner of Fayette and East streets, is reported to be permanent.

Campbell said that gasoline profits had become negligible and that the station could not rely solely on mechanical work for income.

Navy-Hollywood honeymoon ends

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The honeymoon is over between Hollywood and the Pentagon.

For decades producers were assured of a cast of thousands whenever they wanted to make movies about the armed services. No more. The new attitude is demonstrated in the Pentagon's turn-down of requests for cooperation on two new films.

The movies are "Cinderella Liberty" and "The Last Detail," and both are being released here this month in time to qualify for the 1973 Academy race. Both are based on novels by Darryl Ponicsan—he also wrote the screen-

Ohio Motor Vehicles Registrar C. Donald Curry said a special "instant process" camera unit will be installed at each designated photo license agency within the next two weeks. He reported that 204 specially-equipped deputy registrars will assume exclusive responsibility for issuing Ohio driver licenses after New Year's Day.

The predicted high pressure system finally moved into the lower Great Lakes region during the night, but didn't do much to break up cloudiness. As a result, temperatures fell slowly across the state.

The high pressure was expected to hold on, bringing considerable sunshine today in the state. A new weather system entering the plains states should bring Ohio slightly milder temperatures.

Highs were to reach the 40s today and Sunday with a chance of showers late Sunday.

There will be a chance of showers Monday changing to flurries Tuesday and back to rain or snow Wednesday. Highs generally will be in the 40s with lows in the 20s or 30s.

Cold air nears U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow and snow flurries persisted in the northern Rockies today as a new cold air system hovered over the border ready to push into the mid-continent.

Cold weather lingered from the middle and northern Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast with readings before dawn in the 20s. Temperatures in the 30s were common from the Mississippi to the Middle Atlantic coast.

Showers and a few thunderstorms flecked the southern Atlantic Coast states, but rainfall was light, generally less than half an inch.

Skies were fair to partly cloudy elsewhere across the nation. Fog settled over the San Francisco area.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 12 at Houlton, Maine, to 70 at Key West, Fla.

MT pops 'Cane; Lions beat Astros

Panthers pump mark to untarnished 4-0

BY DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor
Miami Trace is off and running with a 4-0 all games mark thus far this season as the Panthers added another win to their list. This time the victim was Wilmington as the Hurricanes dropped a running battle to Miami Trace 67-43 in Richardson Memorial Gym.

From the tip-off to the final buzzer Miami Trace showed poise, stamina, balance and sheer desire as the Panthers ripped through Wilmington's presses, man to man and zone defenses, referee's whistles and even a few bleachers.

Led by towering center Dave Persinger, hustling Jeff King and steady Randy Reiber, the Panthers trailed but only once and that was with the score standing 1-0.

Persinger ripped the nets for 24 points and pulled down 14 missed shots. Constantly Persinger kept the ball alive on the board for another try by the Panther's offensive core.

Reiber followed next in pointage with 16 counters and King drilled in 13. When the ball wasn't being tipped back up towards the basket, Reiber, King or Persinger was shooting from 10 feet or better to totally confuse the Wilmington Hurricanes.

A clawing scrappy defense was put on Wilmington and Miami Trace caused the Hurricanes to turn the ball over 22 times. The majority of the miscues for the Hurricanes came in the second quarter when the Panthers opened the game up by outscoring the Clinton Counties 23-8.

Wilmington used zone defenses, man to man defenses, full-court presses, half-court presses and almost everything else imaginable but still couldn't stop the balanced team work of the Panthers.

Miami Trace dominated the boards throughout the whole contest with the exception of the fourth quarter when coach Dale Creamer had substituted for his starters.

The fast-breaking Panthers tried 18 more shots from the field and made 13 more of the attempts than did Wilmington. From the foul-line Wilmington held the edge by collecting seven to Miami Traces five.

The first quarter was highlighted by excellent fast breaking by Miami Trace and good solid defense by Wilmington. Trace opened with a 9-3 lead before Wilmington could get on track. At the end of the quarter guard Steve Mowery swished a 30 footer at the buzzer to give the Panthers a 19-15 lead and an indication of things to come.

Second quarter action brought Miami Trace's fast break back to work plus a very snagging defense. Three minutes elapsed at the one period in the second quarter where Wilmington failed to score. Both teams pressed but Miami Trace held the upper hand in shooting and defending to take a commanding 42-23 lead into the locker room.

Two minutes tick off the clock before the scoring got underway in the third quarter but when it did the Panthers were still rolling.

Nineteen points were scored by the

MT reserves win thriller

The Miami Trace reserves pulled out a thrilling win Friday night over Wilmington 48-45 in the last minute of the game.

Substitute Gary English only scored three points in the whole game but all three were very important four shots. English stepped to the charity line with less than one minute remaining in the game and promptly sank the go ahead shot for the Panther jayvees.

In a game that was nip and tuck all four quarters English emerged the hero with desperation foul shots.

Miami Trace received Alan Connors best game thus far this season plus good support from Rod Garringer and Greg Cobb. Connors collected 15 points plus showed tremendous hustle and tenacious defensive tactics. Cobb poured in nine points and collected a pocket full of rebounds. Garringer pelted the nets for 10 points and also showed great hustle in the Panthers third straight victory.

Regular Miami Trace starter Dan Gifford didn't play in the reserves game due to a leg injury that may hold the gifted freshman on the bench six weeks. English and Kirk Neff filled in for Gifford most adequately.

Wilmington was led by Marvin Jameson with 15 points and by Steve Hufford with eight tallies.

The Hurricanes collected two more baskets than Miami Trace but the Panthers hit on seven more charity tosses than Wilmington.

Playoff berth looms in Cincinnati today

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati and Cleveland renew their red-hot National Football League rivalry Sunday and there will be more at stake than usual.

Both the Bengals and the Browns entertain playoff hopes and there are just two more games left in the regular season to do something about it. The two are tied with Pittsburgh for first place in the American Conference Central Division and a loss could just about eliminate the loser.

"We just have to play hardnosed football and make no mistakes," says Cincinnati fullback Charles "Boobie" Clark.

"We're going down there to win. We beat them once already this season," counters Cleveland tight end Milt Morin.

Pittsburgh, coming off three straight losses, will entertain Houston. In other Sunday games, Washington is at Dallas, Chicago visits Detroit, New England plays at Buffalo, the New York Jets travel to Philadelphia, Atlanta hosts St. Louis, Baltimore welcomes Miami, San Francisco is at New Orleans and Denver visits San Diego.

Los Angeles entertains the New York Giants Monday night.

Kansas City played at Oakland and Minnesota was at Green Bay today.

Cleveland has beaten Cincinnati in six out of seven regular season meetings, including a 17-10 triumph earlier this year in Cleveland.

"It's a great rivalry and there's no reason to believe this game won't be just like the rest of them," says Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown. "All of the games except one have gone right down to the wire and the majority have been decided by no more than three or four points."

"Both teams will go with the best players we can put on the field to win," adds Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich.

Both clubs are coming off big games. The Bengals turned in their best performance of the year last week, handing the Minnesota Vikings a 27-0 loss. It was the Vikes' first shutout in 162 games.

The Browns rallied from a 206 deficit

Pitching deals top major league trades

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitching, the dominating factor in baseball, was also the dominating factor at the winter baseball meetings.

Often called 75 per cent of the game, pitching took more than 50 per cent of the play in a wild, record-setting week of 24 deals between major league teams.

The trend started last Monday on opening day and continued right through the last out on Friday, when seven deals were completed—including a six-player blockbuster between the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox.

The Cardinals received pitchers John Curtis, Lynn McGlothen and Mike Garman in exchange for pitchers Reggie Cleveland and Diego Segui and infielder Terry Hughes.

By the time the last trade was made, a total of 55 players had been dealt in five days—29 of them pitchers.

These deals also were made Friday as the club owners and general managers went down swinging:

—The New York Yankees acquired pitcher Ken Wright and outfielder Lou Pinella from the Kansas City Royals for relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel.

—The Pittsburgh Pirates sent pitcher Bob Johnson to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder Bill Flowers.—The Philadelphia Phillies purchased relief pitcher Eddie Watt from the Baltimore Orioles.

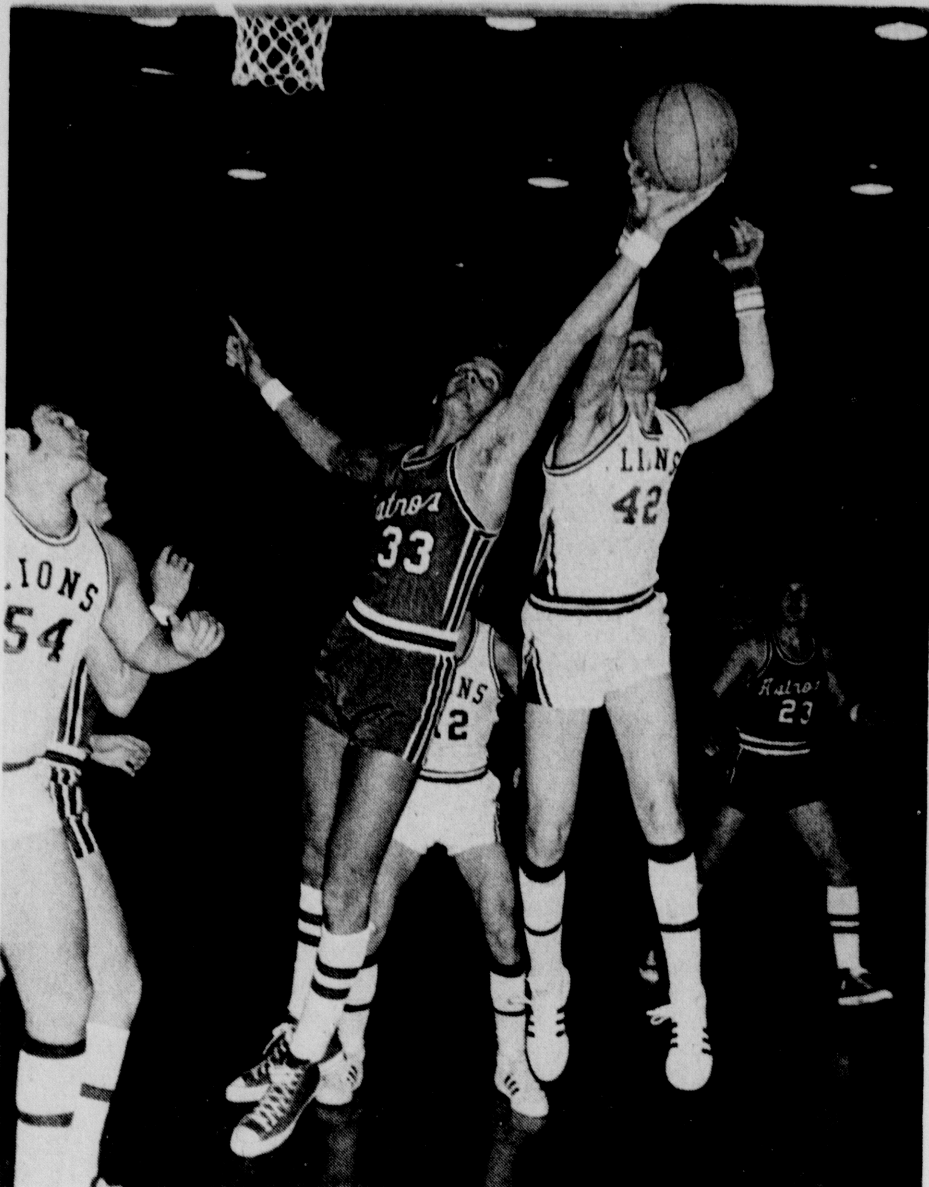

—The Phillies sold infielder Cesar Tovar to the Texas Rangers.

—Texas sent infielder-catcher Bill Sudakis to the Yankees for a player to be named later or cash.

—The Montreal Expos sold outfielder Felipe Alou to the Milwaukee Brewers. The explosive trading activity Friday, announced while the brass was literally clearing out of town, finished a

Phillips keys WCH's non-league triumph

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion basketball squad added another game in the win column Friday night by whipping the visiting East Clinton Astros by a score of 68-58. The Astros were ahead 2-0 at the beginning of the game and that was the last time they were to have the lead. The Lion attack mixed rebounding, ball-handling wizardry, and their usual scrappiness.

Washington C.H. had to start the game without regular pivotman Jeff Wallace because he still had a touch of the flu. However, his spot was capably filled by giant 6-5 Garth Cox. Cox pulled down many defensive rebounds in the first quarter before being replaced by Wallace.

The first quarter of action saw both teams with a hot hand. Washington C.H.'s attack called for getting a man loose inside mixed with an uncanny eye for the outside shot. The Astros stripped the cords for many outside jumpers, many from as far as 25 feet, but still found themselves behind after first period action, 14-10.

In the second period, sophomore Doug Phillips turned the tide even more in the Blue Lions favor. The 6-3 sophomore sensation poured in 10 points and Washington C.H. led by as much as 14 points, but had to settle for a 31-23 halftime lead.

After intermission, the East Clinton team fought to within two points of the Lions, but head coach Gary Shaffer elected to go with his regular starting five. The result was Washington C.H. again pulling away from the Astros. East Clinton still had a chance to win the game with almost three minutes remaining but its fouls got the Lions easy points and Washington C.H. won easily 68-58.

The Lion punch was provided by Phillips who ended the game the scoring leader with 24 points. Two other Lions were in double figures along with Phillips Friday night. Another sophomore, Chuck Byrd, threw in 14 points while always reliable senior Kenny Knisley chipped in with 13 counters. The rebounding attack was led by Knisley who pulled down 11 enemy shots and senior Cox who contributed six.

Nets bomb Memphis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Memphis Tams were in stormy weather even before the American Basketball Association season began. Owner Charley Finley wanted to unload the franchise and then the Tams didn't get a coach until mid-September when Butch Van Breda Kolff took over.

Unfortunately, Van Breda Kolff has been unable to get his team in out of the rain.

The Tams Friday lost to the New York Nets, 138-102 for their sixth straight defeat.

"There was a time when we were respectable," said Van Breda Kolff.

Greenfield nips Hillsboro 71-69 in overtime tussle

Greenfield registered its first win inside the South Central Ohio League basketball race Friday night by nipping Highland County rival Hillsboro by a 71-69 score in overtime.

Head coach Sam Snyder's Tigers, who pumped their all-games record to a 2-1 level with the victory, got a nifty 20-point scoring performance from pivotman Steve Willett.

Keven Bailey canned 27 points on the basis of 11 field goals and five free throws to pace Hillsboro's scoring punch.

In other SCOL action Friday, Circleville, got balanced scoring from a quartet of players, to whip Madison Plains by a 66-54 count.

The East Clinton attack was paced also by three players with double figure credentials. Substitute Jim Morris came off the bench and sparked the Astros with 17 cantos while seniors Bill McClary and Jan Rittenhouse added scores of 16 and 12, respectively.

The Washington C.H. team travels to Portsmouth tonight for a rematch of the opening game which Portsmouth took 73-52. It will be the Lions (now 3-1 overall) first road venture of the young season. At the same time, the Washington Senior High School gymnasium will be the neutral grounds for a match that pits the Greenfield Tigers against the East Clinton Astros.

Astros down Lion jayvees

The Washington C.H. reserve basketball team lost its third game in row Friday night at the hands of the East Clinton Astro jayvees by a score of 51-44. Giant 6-3 Dusty Kessler and scrappy 5-10 John Slone combined for 32 of their team's 51 points, an average of 63 per cent of their team points.

There was plenty of action in the game that preceded the Washington C.H.-East Clinton varsity game. Kessler used his height to his advantage and scored many of his points from offensive tip-ins. Slone used his ability on outside shots to hit on most of his baskets from outside the foul line.

One highpoint in the Washington C.H. attack was Scott Sefton leading all Blue Lion jayvee scorers for the third week in a row with ten points. Also, substitutes Mark Lamberson and Randy Jamison came off the bench and helped their team tremendously. Lamberson scorched the nets for eight points in limited duty while pulling down three defensive rebounds. Jamison contributed six points to the losing cause and held Kessler, who had five inches in height over him, to only four points in his limited action.

The Blue Lion jayvees travel to Portsmouth to play their first road game of the year tonight and also travel to Madison Plains on Dec. 14. The next home game will be played at the WSHS gym against Greenfield Dec. 18 prior to the Blue Lion-Tiger game. Game time will be 6 p.m. instead of the regular 6:30 p.m.

Madison Mills PTO planning future events

MADISON MILLS — The planning of a square dance and the school Christmas program headed the agenda for the December meeting of the Madison Mills Parent-Teacher Organization. A movie to be shown at the school in January and the purchase of jackets were also discussed.

Members voted to hold a square dance, featuring Carl Wilt and his band, from 7:30 until 11:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 15, in the school gymnasium. The school Christmas program will be held Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The organization also decided to purchase warm-up jackets for the basketball team. Some of the jackets used last year have been misplaced. The "Son of Flubber" will be shown at the school Jan. 26.

A prize was given to the sixth grade for having the most parents in attendance at the meeting.

Converted office building will use natural energy

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A group of designers plans to use the sun, wind and water to provide power for a 19th century foundry being converted into an office building.

When the renovation is completed next year, energy will be produced by solar panels on the roof, water-powered turbines in an adjacent river and a wind propeller towering over the building.

Then an experiment begins: Will office workers be more conservative in consuming power if they watch it being collected and know the supply is limited?

"You tend to husband your battery in your car, but we don't have that energy consciousness in our buildings," said Ronald Beckman, director of the Research and Design Institute of Providence.

Institute architects and design planners are searching for the most sophisticated insulation, alternate energy sources and solar heating systems available for the threestory brick building, which will become the headquarters for the institute's 25-member staff.

In terms of research of new products, the institute's effort is not radical, Beckman said. He said what is unique is the attempt to utilize a wide variety of natural energy sources in a single system and then study the environmental effects on long-term tenants.

As part of the experiments, the staff will be subjected to different heat and lighting levels to determine what is adequate. Beckman thinks the results may prompt the staff members to change their home energy use.

The institute, a nonprofit behavior and environment research organization, also hopes it will be able to refine some of the energy systems and devise new products providing low-cost energy with no pollution.

Beckman said the institute will be able to generate at least 60 per cent of its power and may be able to become nearly self-sufficient by installing new energy systems as they are developed.

Natural gas pinch

expected until 1980

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Senate committee was told today that restrictions on the sale of natural gas in Ohio will remain in effect at least until 1980.

Marvin White, president of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., said "deficiencies" in the state's traditional pipeline supply from the Southwest cannot be made up for at least five years.

Class 'tailor-made' for 38 male students

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Well, why not? If women are becoming truck drivers, why shouldn't we learn to sew?"

The logic belongs to Frank Mastronardi, a tailor who is among the 38 male students who are now learning to sew at St. Joseph's College through weekly lessons taught by a nun.

The St. Joseph Sewing Center is run by Sister Gloria, C.S.J., who says she's been sewing most of her life and is now happy to be teaching her skills.

"I always hoped to get permission to give lessons so I kept up in the field," says the nun, who has taught people from 8 to 86 the art that is often associated with women.

"After wanting to teach sewing for 30 years, I could scarcely believe it when I got the chance five years ago."

Sister Gloria finds "The men are so serious. They concentrate and don't like to talk while they're working."

"I have to be frank with them about fabric selection and what pattern is correct for their figure type," says Sister Gloria, who teaches the weekly classes to students coming from Connecticut, New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

MASTRONARDI said even though he's a tailor "I'm interested in women's designs and I plan to teach adult sewing classes."

A male bank executive says the skills Sister Gloria is teaching him can save money.

"When I can make a handsome suit for a great deal less than I'd pay in a clothing store, it's powerful inducement to learn to sew," Gilman Michaud says.

Sister Gloria has praise for her male students;

"A man's taste is just as good as a woman's once he's gained some experience in selecting his material."

She says that most of the men in her course enroll with the aim of making items they can wear.

Fed eases bank reserve requirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board is reducing the amount of money banks must maintain in reserve against certain deposits — a move aimed at making more money available for borrowers.

The board announced Friday that effective next Thursday it is reducing from 11 to 8 per cent its reserve requirement on certificates of deposit in denominations of $100,000 and over.

It said this should reduce by about $375 million the reserves banks must maintain, thereby making it easier for banks to meet the credit needs of their customers.

The tight 11 per cent requirement had been imposed in September to slow what the board viewed as excessive borrowing by business. However, the tight restrictions caused interest rates throughout the economy to soar to record levels.

The board action Friday was viewed as a possible indication that the interest rate peak may be past.

But even as it was announced, New York's First National City Bank boosted its prime lending rate to 10 per cent.

The increase — amounting to a one fourth of one per cent boost — was quickly followed by Banker's Trust Co. and Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh and there were predictions that the 10 per cent rate would be industrywide within a week.

BOB WALL SHIM KICK

Michael E. Davis was approaching with an unidentified car in front of him.

The unidentified car swerved into the oncoming traffic lane to pass the stalled car, but Davis hit his brakes, couldn't stop and slammed into it.

The impact knocked the stalled car off the right side of the road, while the Davis auto went off the left side and into a fence owned by Merle Jenkins, of Jeffersonville.

Sheriff's deputies were alerted to the accident when it occurred at 3:16 a.m. Saturday and reported both cars demolished.

Davis was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital with lacerations of the right hand and elbow and abrasions of the right knee; Estle Reed, for back and stomach pain, Charles Reed, for pain in the left rib area. The Reeds were treated and released.

THE SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT covered another accident at 10 a.m., Friday in which two semi trucks involved. The drivers, Jesse J. Howell, 45, Cleveland, and James D. Plunkett, 27, Jacksonville, Fla., were parked at Garner's 76 station at the intersection of U.S. 35 and I-71.

Slight damage was done when the truck driven by Howell started to leave and hit the other truck in which driver Plunkett was sleeping.

Police reported a minor accident involving two parked cars on W. Market Street at 12:17 p.m., Friday.

A car driven by Billie P. Shaw, 35, of 723 McLean St. scraped a car owned by Lee E. Altenus, of Rt. 3.
